Parker. No Less a Man Douglas Robinson, 1994. Through close readings of these three figures, Robinson argues that more is going on among American men than meets the casual eye and that much of what is going on is reflected in the most popular of our art forms: detective novels, action movies, and rock music. Intertextuality in Music Violetta Kostka, Paulo F. de Castro, William A. Everett, 2021-06-17. The concept of intertextuality, namely the meaning generated by interrelations between different texts, was coined in the 1960s among literary theorists and has been widely applied since then to many other disciplines, including music. Intertextuality in Music: Dialogic Composition provides a systematic investigation of musical intertextuality, not only as a general principle of musical creativity but also as a diverse set of devices and techniques that have been consciously developed and applied by many composers in the pursuit of various artistic and aesthetic goals. Intertextual techniques, as this collection reveals, have borne a wide range of results, such as parody, paraphrase, collage, and dialogues with and between the past and present. In the age of sampling and remix culture, the very notion of intertextuality seems to have gained increased momentum and visibility, even though the principle of creating new music on the basis of pre-existing music has a long history both inside and outside the Western tradition. The book provides a general survey of musical intertextuality, with a special focus on music from the second half of the twentieth century but also including examples ranging from the nineteenth century to the second decade of the twenty-first century. The volume is intended to inspire and stimulate new work in intertextual studies in music. The Works of Herman Melville: Moby-Dick, or, The whale Herman Melville, 1922. Moby-Dick Herman Melville, 1928. moby-dick or the whale Herman Melville, 1922. Contemporary American Crime Fiction Hans Bertens, T. D'haen, 2001-10-25. This highly accessible, lively, and informative study gives a clear and comprehensive overview of recent trends in American crime fiction. Building on a discussion of the immediate predecessors, Bertens and D'haen focus on the work of popular and award-winning authors of the last fifteen years. Particular attention is given to writers who have reworked established conventions and explored new directions, especially women and those from ethnic minorities. FICTION MOBY DICK; OR THE WHITE WHALE, 1921. Women Enter the Wilderness Donald J. Greiner, 1991. The canon of American literature, especially the American novel, has long been defined by white male writers. From Cooper, Melville, and Twain to Crane, Hemingway, and Dickey, the reciprocal relationship between literature and culture has both reflected and determined the socially acceptable roles of males and females. Women scholars and writers have long pointed out that these roles are often different in novels written by female authors. American Literature Robert Shafer, 1926.
