China's Big Power Ambition under Xi Jinping Suisheng Zhao, 2021-12-14 Instead of emphasizing China as a developing country Chinese President Xi Jinping has identified China as a big power and accentuated China's big power status This book explores the narratives and driving forces behind China's big power ambition Three narratives rooted in Sino centralism are examined One is China's demands for the reform of global governance to reflect the values and interests of China as a rising power Another is China's Belt and Road Initiative to construct a nascent China centred world order The third is the China model and self image promotion in the developing countries There are many forces that have driven or constrained China's big power ambition This collection focuses on two sets of forces One is China's domestic politics and economic incentives and disincentives The other is China's geo political and geo economic interests These forces have both motivated and constrained China's big power ambition The chapters in this book were originally published in the Journal of Contemporary China psychology overlaps a very large portion of social science and of psychology and education In this respect it is central to all psychological and social science disciplines This fact necessarily renders the content of social psychology voluminous It is no longer possible to treat this subject adequately in small compass The text books which have so far appeared although for the most part excellent from their several viewpoints are nevertheless but partial treatments So notably true is this that there exists a marked controversy as to what properly constitutes social psychology In Part I of this volume an attempt has been made to bring this controversy into relief for the purpose of enabling the reader to see the subject as a whole Originally the writer intended to publish this volume in five parts to make the synthetic treatment more pronounced But the length of the volume as thus planned was prohibitive and it was decided to change the plan somewhat The synthetic character of the treatment has been retained but the detailed presentation of the process of the development of personality and of self and social consciousness has been reserved for a second volume The present volume treats the subject from the standpoint of the more objective factors which integrate the personality and its responses in a social environment Throughout it has been the intention of the writer not only to make the treatment complete in itself but to keep the presentation on such a level that the volume can be used successfully as a second book in social theory following directly upon the introductory course in sociology in departments sociology If the approach to the social sciences is a psychological one the organization of this volume should make it available as an introduction to the first course in sociology economics politics and more advanced courses in history and literature in those departments which care to use it in this way That social psychology will ultimately be regarded as a necessary introduction to the several social sciences and the literatures can scarcely be doubted While the present volume is intended for undergraduate students it is hoped that it may also be used profitably in more advanced courses in combination with the more extended treatment of the subjective aspects of personality development later to be published Preface PsycINFO Database Record c 2006 APA all rights reserved Models for Management Jay Hall, 1988 This unique anthology brings together in a complementary way the ideas research and data of a number of leading scientists and authors Researched based it is not a textbook of theories waiting to be put into practice nor war stories told by veterans of corporate campaigns Designed to help readers attain the highest level of managerial excellence this collection offers proven models for success The underlying principle is that truly productive managers utilize the competence of their subordinates From the book cover Education for Moral Growth Henry Neumann, 1923 A League of nations , 1919
