Atkinson,2015-08-06 Excerpt from Chateau in Brittany The attack of Europe by way of a fresh point of entry leads to disillusion and the conviction that experience teaches nine tenths of us very little Forgetting how scant a knowledge we have acquired of Dover Calais Newhaven or Dieppe we await the revelations of Cherbourg with an expectation that speaks ill for our intelligence No sooner has the soul triumphed over the humiliating physical revolt at the freedom with which the waves disregard our comfort than it recoups itself by soaring into imaginary realms where coming delights wear a golden halo of mystery In the event what actually happens is the usual and commonplace There comes a night wherein affrighted sleep flees before the jerky pounding of a donkey engine Flying feet along the corridors dragging noises and shuffling progresses above our heads quick sharp voices of command help to hinder our capturing the shy fugitive till worn out in the fruitless effort we welcome the summons that calls us forth hours earlier than is our wont About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
