First Complete Biography of One of Our Greatest War Poets John Stuart Roberts, 2014-06-05 A FINE ENGROSSING SYMPATHETIC STUDY OF SASSOON THE TIMES With two collections of his verse written during the First World War Siegfried Sassoon established himself as among the greatest of the war poets Beyond that the accounts he left of his service with the Royal Welch Fusiliers on the Western Front beginning with Memoirs of a Fox Hunting Man in 1928 rank perhaps as highly as his poetry and have done much to shape our modern perception of that war His is and remains one of the most significant voices of his generation and arguably the most eloquent As an infantry officer Sassoon's courage won him the Military Cross and a recommendation for the VC for rescuing men under fire while his boldness in action earned him the nickname Mad Jack he was also wounded several times once seriously As the war dragged on however he came to see it as a cynical exercise leading him to write an anti war letter to The Times and to tear the ribbon of his MC from his tunic and throw it into the River Mersey Alarmed the authorities sent him to a hospital for shell shocked officers in Scotland where he came under the care of the leading psychoanalyst Dr W H R Rivers and met and befriended a young officer of the Manchester Regiment named Wilfred Owen Although Sassoon returned to active service his hatred for the war remained and by the time of the Armistice in 1918 he had declared himself a pacifist John Stuart Roberts's widely praised biography is a gripping account of a complex man who was at once a product of the establishment and one of its most passionate critics a war hero and a pacifist who although a towering literary figure refused to align himself with any particular movement Written with a clarity and directness that would have pleased the poet himself this is a biography that looks beyond the common perception of Sassoon as only a war poet to reveal the man in full It is a book that any admirer of Siegfried Sassoon or anyone who wishes to know more about this enigmatic yet brilliant figure will cherish A MAGNIFICENT BOOK IT'S FIRST RATE IN

Mountbatten Adrian Smith, 2010-04-30 Was he a far sighted war hero or an ambitious networker promoted well above his natural talent Admired as a modernising chief of staff a timely decoloniser and a genuine player on the world stage Mountbatten nevertheless continues to attract fierce criticism In this timely new biography Adrian Smith offers a fresh and convincing perspective depicting Mountbatten as a quintessentially modern highly professional figure within the Royal Navy and at Combined Operations and SE Asia Command a hands on officer who enthusiastically embraced new technology someone who although an aristocrat was by instinct a progressive innovative in his approach to man management Smith brings Mountbatten to life acknowledging the essential qualities as well as the obvious weaknesses Beneath the rich vain often ruthless embodiment of power and privilege could be found a very human even vulnerable character the complex personality of a pivotal figure in the history of twentieth century Britain and her empire Siegfried Sassoon Max Egremont, 2005-12-13 From his famous war poems to the gentler vision of his prose Siegfried Sassoon wrote masterfully of war and lost idylls This work and its complex author are illuminated in Egremont's definitive biography The Great War and the Missing Muse Patrick J. Quinn, 1994 This book presents a study of two English writers whose initial friendship developed from a chance meeting in the trenches of the Somme to one of the more important symbiotic soldier poet relationships of the 1920s Robert Graves and Siegfried Sassoon Patrick J Quinn examines both writers autobiographical works scrutinizing the transitions in their poetry from pre war jottings through post war struggles to find their poetic voices This developmental approach provides an opportunity to evaluate much of their poetry that has hitherto been largely ignored and helps explain why both men turned in the late 1920s to writing autobiographical prose fiction to purge the war and its aftereffects from their lives Both Graves and Sassoon achieved their first real poetic successes during the Great War Linked together as fellow officers and friends and flushed with the promise of greater poetic achievement ahead both writers perceived the war initially as a vehicle by which they could rid themselves of Victorian influences and produce startling results as realists But as the war continued and both men began to suffer its effects they realized that their verses had failed to alert a victory determined British populace to its jingoistic mentality By mid 1919 both poets were trying to adjust to civilian status and reorganize their lives after the upheaval of the war Graves attempted at first to expiate his memories of the Western Front by writing sentimental verse but dissatisfaction with his marriage and an inability to exorcise his neurasthenic nightmares led him to experiment with psychological self analysis in his poetry Sassoon's response to the war in contrast motivated largely by a homoerotic attachment to the enlisted men under his command and a conviction of social injustice turned him briefly to socialism and social satire for a thematic approach to his poetry in the early 1920s In their joint discontent Sassoon and Graves searched throughout the mid twenties for personal order and artistic direction Graves delved into Eastern philosophy and biblical exegesis until with the arrival of Laura Riding his domestic and creative life was turned around from Riding Graves gained the strength to reject the values imposed upon him by his background and his literary peers Similarly Sassoon struggled to find a poetic cause commensurate with his talents but his disillusionment with the modern world caused him to turn inward for inspiration This introspection led Sassoon to a contemplation of his past through which he was eventually to find the symmetry and positive cultural values that were lacking in the modern world Thus in their individual searches for creative inspiration both Graves and Sassoon severed relations with contemporary British society and each turned to his own form of self imposed exile BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Poetry of the Victorian Period George Benjamin Woods,1930
