Underwater Acoustic Digital Signal Processing and Communication Systems Robert Istepanian, Milica Stojanovic, 2013-03-09 Underwater acoustic digital signal processing and communications is an area of applied research that has witnessed major advances over the past decade. Rapid developments in this area were made possible by the use of powerful digital signal processors (DSPs) whose speed, computational power, and portability allowed efficient implementation of complex signal processing algorithms and experimental demonstration of their performance in a variety of underwater environments. The early results served as a motivation for the development of new and improved signal processing methods for underwater applications which today range from classical autonomous underwater vehicles and sonar signal processing to remote control underwater wireless communications. This book presents the diverse areas of underwater acoustic signal processing and communication systems through a collection of contributions from prominent researchers in these areas. Their results, both new and those published over the past few years, have been assembled to provide what we hope is a comprehensive overview of the recent developments in the field. The book is intended for a general audience of researchers, engineers, and students working in the areas of underwater acoustic signal processing. It requires the reader to have a basic understanding of the digital signal processing concepts. Each topic is treated from a theoretical perspective followed by practical implementation details. We hope that the book can serve both as a study text and an academic reference.

Fundamentals and Applications of Acoustic Metamaterials Vicente Romero-Garcia, Anne-Christine Hladky-Hennion, 2019-08-09 In the last few decades, metamaterials have revolutionized the ways in which waves are controlled and applied in physics and practical situations. The extraordinary properties of metamaterials, such as their locally resonant structure with deep subwavelength band gaps and their ranges of frequency where propagation is impossible, have opened the way to a host of applications that were previously unavailable. Acoustic metamaterials have been able to replace traditional treatments in several sectors due to their better performance in targeted and tunable frequency ranges with strongly reduced dimensions. This is a training book composed of nine chapters written by experts in the field, giving a broad overview of acoustic metamaterials and their uses. The book is divided into three parts covering the state of the art, the fundamentals, and the real-life applications of acoustic metamaterials. Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports, 1983-08 Rhinology and Facial Plastic Surgery Fred J. Stucker, Chris de Souza, Guy S. Kenyon, Timothy S. Lian, Wolfgang Draf, Bernhard Schick, 2009-03-28 Georg von Békésy was awarded the Nobel Prize for his seminal work on hearing all over the world. In other words, it is directed toward work on hearing. It was, however, 43 years later, in 2004, that a common scientific language that is spoken uniformly, Linda Buck and Richard Axel were awarded the Nobel Prize for and consistently all over the world. Universality so that norms, their work on olfaction. This is indicative of how the science of staging systems, etc., can be applied anywhere in the world with rhinology, is only now coming into its own. For quite some time, equal validity

This can only be achieved through consensus rhinology was thought to be limited in scope It is now appreciated This book contains not only the genesis and pathogenesis of ated that the nose is not only an organ of aesthetic appeal but rhinologic disease but also what all surgeons want and that is one that carries out several important complex functions The operative steps to bring about successful resolution of disease tremendous surge in medical literature in recent times bears with the return of normal function

Underwater Acoustic Data Processing Y. T. Chan,1989-03-31 This book contains the papers that were accepted for presentation at the 1988 NATO Advanced Study Institute on Underwater Acoustic Data Processing held at the Royal Military College of Canada from 18 to 29 July 1988 Approximately 110 participants from various NATO countries were in attendance during this two week period Their research interests range from underwater acoustics to signal processing and computer science some are renowned scientists and some are recent Ph D graduates The purpose of the ASI was to provide an authoritative summing up of the various research activities related to sonar technology The exposition on each subject began with one or two tutorials prepared by invited lecturers followed by research papers which provided indications of the state of development in that specific area I have broadly classified the papers into three sections under the titles of I Propagation and Noise II Signal Processing and III Post Processing The reader will find in Section I papers on low frequency acoustic sources and effects of the medium on underwater acoustic propagation Problems such as coherence loss due to boundary interaction wavefront distortion and multipath transmission were addressed Besides the medium corrupting noise sources also have a strong influence on the performance of a sonar system and several researchers described methods of modeling these sources
