Roll Over Adorno Robert Miklitsch,2012-02-01 What happens when Theodor Adorno the champion of high classical artists such as Beethoven comes into contact with the music of Chuck Berry the de facto king of rock n roll In a series of readings and meditations Robert Miklitsch investigates the postmodern nexus between elite and popular culture as it occurs in the audiovisual fields of film music and television ranging from Gershwin to gangsta rap Tarantino to Tongues Untied Tony Soprano to Buffy the Vampire Slayer Miklitsch argues that the aim of critical theory in the new century will be to describe and explain these commodities in ever greater phenomenological detail without losing touch with those evaluative criteria that have historically sustained both Kulturkritik and classical aesthetics

GREED David Ivy,2021-12-29 Three childhood friends found themselves entwined in the vicissitudes of life on the mean streets of the South Bronx where the invisible hands of greed lacked empathy In a desperate attempt to escape poverty Malcolm Eric and Yadiel actuated by a feeling of hopelessness embraced a path in the streets that lead them into a life of gangs arson murder and drugs By 1977 on the gritty streets of the South Bronx buildings were going up in smoke all over the city at a time when arson was the answer to everything As Greed told the story of life and death heroin filled the veins of those who tried to escape the horrors of the world through a delusive feeling of euphoria By the early eighties crack a very potent form of cocaine surfaced on the streets of New York and with it came a profitable curse that conveyed death and destruction everywhere it went New Hollywood and Countercultural Whiteness

Till Kadritzke,2024-11-18 In the late 1960s the white counterculture enters the screens with Bonnie and Clyde and Easy Rider in 1976 a backlash seems to have taken place with white male protagonists such as Travis Bickle Howard Beale and Rocky Balboa being surrounded by non white and female others But these films cannot be neatly identified as left wing or right wing liberal or conservative in their politics of affect they rather express important affinities This study proposes the New Hollywood as an entry point into a cultural history of the postwar era sensitive to the intersections of affect race and gender Following a narrative that spreads from the immediate postwar years to the 1970s the study examines how New Hollywood films were part of a discursive and affective reconfiguration of white masculinity the emergence of a subject position of countercultural whiteness and its affective style of expressivity Examining affective affinities between films of the era complicates the narrative of polarization that shapes commentary on the history of American politics emphasizing instead the shared racialized and gendered politics of the white counterculture and those reactionary forces that allegedly lashed back against it Crime Films of the 1970s
