The Act of Teaching Donald R. Cruickshank, Deborah Bainer Jenkins, Kim K. Metcalf, 2005-03 The backdrop of teaching The act of teaching The effective teacher The Act of Teaching Donald R. Cruickshank, Deborah Bainer Jenkins, Kim I. Metcalf, 2015-03-29 Designed to get students up and running ready to teach this popular text stands out for its comprehensive up to date coverage of what pre service teachers should know and be able to do and what competent experienced teachers are like It provides both knowledge and know how two hallmarks that make The Act of Teaching the text of choice for K 12 general methods of teaching courses Timely research based and reader friendly the book features relevant information on the context of teaching the act of teaching and the personal and professional qualities and skills of effective teachers The emphasis throughout is on reflection readers are engaged in considering the personal meaning and application of what they are reading Pedagogical features in each chapter enrich and enliven the text The Companion Website includes a range of additional resources for students and for instructors Changes in the Seventh Edition Two brand new chapters Classroom Technology and Developing and Participating in a Learning Community Restructured tighter organization Updates and substantive revisions in all chapters The Act of Teaching: Reflections on a Basic Human Act Gabriel Moran, 2019-11-18 The Act of Teaching answers an important but seldom asked question What does it mean to teach someone something Most books that say they are about teaching discuss only the special form of teaching that occurs in a classroom This book traces two philosophical traditions from ancient times to the present One tradition assumes a group of people who are the teachers and others who are the learners The second tradition recognizes all human beings and at least some nonhumans as engaged in teaching and learning This tradition is more comprehensive in meaning and more practical in application The meaning of teaching in this second tradition is showing someone how to do something Teaching begins with the way a mother cares for a child and speaks to a child A child learns by responding to its parents and to other people in its environment Every individual continues throughout life to learn from teachers who are often unaware that they are teaching Most teaching is communal and nonverbal Teaching in the context of a school is not the main topic of this book Nevertheless schoolteachers might find many of this book s examples of teaching learning to be a valuable source for reflection on their own work Author Description Gabriel Moran is Professor Emeritus of Educational Philosophy at New York University where he taught for thirty five years He is the author of twenty eight books which cover a wide range of topics in education religion ethics and politics All the books are concerned with finding language that can help conversation about divisive issues The meaning of teaching has been a central concern of the author for many decades The Act of Teaching D. Bainer Cruickshank (D. Metcalf, K), Esigned for the general methods course this renowned text provides the broadest content coverage related to understanding oneself as a teacher It provides understanding of one s students and how they learn and understanding of what is known about the act of teaching Showing How Gabriel Moran, 1997-01-02 This book is thoroughly original work on the meaning of teaching by one who has been widely credited with reshaping the field of religious education in the United States and to have had a significant effect also in many other countries Despite a steady flow of books that have teaching in the title nearly all of them leave out most of the story In Showing How Gabriel Moran presents the full story of the act of teaching Part 1 establishes a fundamental meaning for to teach examining why there exists a deep seated fear that teaching is an immoral act Professor Moran then grounds the meaning of to teach in its most basic forms moving from examples in the nonhuman world what the mountain teaches the mountain climber to communal and nonverbal forms of teaching among humans Part 2 explores the languages of teaching and the diverse forms of speech appropriate to teaching rhetorical forms including storytelling and preaching therapeutic languages and religion preservation of these languages in ritualized settings including confessing and mourning Part 3 draws out the implications for education the school and the teaching of morality Showing How addresses not only schoolteachers but parents counselors ministers administrators and everyone who can recognize teaching as a fundamental human act By exposing the root meaning of teaching the book represents a challenge to any proposals for educational reform Gabriel Moran is Professor and Director of Religious Education in the Department of Culture and Communication New York University He is the author of sixteen books including Uniqueness Problem or Paradox in Jewish and Christian Traditions and A Grammar of Responsibility
