

ACTING SKILLS

Facial Expressions

Boost your performance by clearly showing the characters' thoughts and feelings. Make them strong and lively so everyone in the audience can feel their intensity. Use gestures and expressions to reveal the characters' depth and passion, turning them into captivating figures that grab the audience's attention.

Voice

Hold an audience's attention by making yourself easy to listen to. Speak slower and louder than you normal using pauses, emphasis, and variety in tone, pitch, rhythm, and volume. You need a stage voice which is clear to the audience.

Gesture

Make your performance visually interesting. The types of gestures you use; aggressive, authoritative, nervous, or exaggerated will send messages to the audience about your characters personality, mood, and situation.

Stance

The way you hold your posture on stage will portray your character's age, personality, and mood. Your character's stance may change according to what situations they are in.

Reacting

The audience is always looking at you, even when you are not speaking. You are not on the radio, so show how your character is reacting to what others are saying and doing through the use of body language and facial expressions.

Movement

The audience will get a sense of your relationships with other characters by how close you are standing to them and the direction you are facing. In your scene decide who should be dominating the space. hovering by the door for example may show that you cannot wait to leave.

Levels

Use levels to help indicate status. One character may be on a higher piece of staging or platform, or it may simply be that one character is standing and another is sitting. It is easy to play the dominant, more powerful character if they are on a higher level.

Motivation

Research the text to identify your character's thoughts, feelings, and emotions. Understanding your character's motivation will help you give a believable and realistic performance.
