Biographers Craft:

The Impossible Craft Scott Donaldson, 2015-02-23 In The Impossible Craft Scott Donaldson explores the rocky territory of literary biography the most difficult that biographers try to navigate Writers are accustomed to controlling the narrative and notoriously opposed to allowing intruders on their turf They make bonfires of their papers encourage others to destroy correspondence write their own autobiographies and appoint family or friends to protect their reputations as official biographers Thomas Hardy went so far as to compose his own life story to be published after his death while falsely assigning authorship to his widow After a brief background sketch of the history of biography from Greco Roman times to the present Donaldson recounts his experiences in writing biographies of a broad range of twentieth century American writers Ernest Hemingway F Scott Fitzgerald John Cheever Archibald MacLeish Edwin Arlington Robinson Winfield Townley Scott and Charlie Fenton Donaldson provides readers with a highly readable insiders introduction to literary biography He suggests how to conduct interviews and what not to do during the process He offers sound advice about how closely biographers should identify with their subjects He examines the ethical obligations of the biographer who must aim for the truth without unduly or unnecessarily causing discomfort or worse to survivors He shows us why and how misinformation comes into existence and tends to persist over time He describes the mythical ideal biographer an imaginary creature of universal intelligence and myriad talents beyond the reach of any single human being And he suggests how its very impossibility makes the goal of writing a biography that captures the personality of an author a challenge well worth pursuing

The Biographer's Craft Milton Lomask, 1987 Extraordinary Lives William Knowlton Zinsser, 1986-01-01 Six eminent biographers explain how they reconstruct other people's lives and takes us through a gallery of American lives David McCullough talks of going to Missouri to find The Unexpected Harry Truman Richard Sewall describes his 20 year search for Emily Dickinson Paul Nagel tells us about the 4 generations of The Adams Women Ronald Steel recalls how the life of the biographer can become entwined with that of his subject Jean Strouse discusses the fact that there are two reasons why a man does anything a good reason and the real reason Robert Caro reveals the frustrations of trying to unearth the true facts about a man Lyndon Johnson who wanted to conceal them
