Who You Think I Am? Sebastian Berlich,2023-10-27 Pop stars are close to us In their songs their pictures their stories on Instagram What we are looking for is an authentic impression Real feelings on real faces But what happens when they cover their face with a mask Permanently as a second face The phenomenon can be found in the mainstream as well as in the underground The mask does not break with the ideal of authenticity Rather depending on how it is staged it refers to the most diverse discourses can appear cool or grotesque become a logo or create anonymity The essay uses mainly two examples Sido Slipknot to show how the mask constructs the persona of pop stars and thus reveals structures of pop music The translation was done with the help of artificial intelligence A subsequent human revision was done primarily in terms of content

Music/Video Gina Arnold, Daniel Cookney, Kirsty Fairclough, Michael N. Goddard, 2017-08-10 This book is a lively comprehensive and timely reader on the music video capitalising on cross disciplinary research expertise which represents a substantial academic engagement with the music video a mediated form and practice that still remains relatively under explored in a 21st century context The music video has remained suspended between two distinct poles On the one hand the music video as the visual sheen of late capitalism at the intersection of celebrity studies and postmodernism On the other hand the music video as art looking to a prehistory of avant garde film making while perpetually pushing forward the digital frontier with a taste for anarchy controversy and the integration of special effects into a form designed to be disseminated across digital platforms In this way the music video virally re engenders debates about high art and low culture This collection presents a comprehensive account of the music video from a contemporary 21st century perspective This entails revisiting key moments in the canonical history of the music video exploring its articulations of sexuality and gender examining its functioning as a form of artistic expression between music film and video art and following the music video s dissemination into the digital domain considering how digital media and social media have come to re invent the forms and functions of the music video well beyond the limits of music television
