Anzacs, the Media and the Great War John Frank Williams, 1999 Historian and photographer Williams Germanic studies U of New South Wales looks at how the media during World War I glorified the prowess and exaggerated the successes of the Australian and New Zealand Army Corp as part of the country's war effort and how later historians and the public have mistaken the propaganda for journalism US distribution by ISBS Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

A National History of Australia, New Zealand the Adjacent Islands Robert P. Thomson, 1917 Excerpt from A National History of Australia New Zealand the Adjacent Islands From Their Discovery to the Centennial Era and From That Period to the Present Day The want of a reliable fairly connected and consecutive account of the events of Australian history must long since have been apparent to those who have taken sufficient interest in the past of their native or adopted land to pursue the disconnected and incomplete records which so far are all that are available for the study of the inquirer or earnest scholar In compiling this history to the Centennial year the author was confronted by the difficulty which was not so patent in the subsequent addition that for a great portion of the period dealt with Australia was not one country politically but any number up to six and that whilst it has been naturally one and indivisible and as such required a general national history it also as political divisions of it were made called for a special account of the events of the individual units and as to do reasonable justice to them needed that some of what was embodied in the account of the whole should be incorporated in their individual narratives the presence of a certain amount of repetition was apparently unavoidable However if this has lengthened the volume of the history the recapitulations will serve to impress facts that are dealt with on the minds of the readers a consideration not without value having regard to the scarcity of knowledge of the history of this country that is evidenced by the remarks of many persons in prominent positions About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Lost Column Charles Gilson, 1924 The Times History of the War, 1916 The Motor-bus in War A.
