Apartheid in Fiction Gurleena Mehta, Harish Narang, 1990-01-01 Cracks in the Wall Brighton J. Uledi Kamanga, 2002 A Story of South Africa Susan Gallagher, 1991-02-05 In this timely study of Coetzee's fiction Gallagher places his work in the context of South African history and politics Her close historical readings of Coetzee's six major novels explore how he lays bare the dense complicity between thought and language in South Africa Transition and Transgression Judith Inggs, 2015-12-07 This book conveys the story of a society in the throes of restructuring itself and struggling to find a new identity A particularly attractive aspect of this study is the focus on young adult literature and its place in post apartheid South Africa as well as its potential use in the classroom and lecture hall Intersecting these two topics provides a compelling lens for refocusing debate on young adult fiction while offering a new and novel angle on debates in South Africa after the end of apartheid The multilingual and multicultural South African society has resulted in fiction that differs from other parts of the English speaking world This work presents a holistic critique of South African young adult fiction and addresses issues such as change and transformation identity politics sexuality and the issue of the right of white writers to represent and write characters of different races Making Use of History in New South African Fiction Sten Pultz Moslund, 2003 A study of the use of history as political ammunition and literature as historical counter discourse in Mongane Serote's Gods of Our Time Mike Nicol's The Ibis Tapestry and Zakes Mda's Ways of Dying Moslund shows how literary engagement with the past seeks to rupture the continuity of a strongly dichotomised epistemology and through that dissolve the inherited polarisation of society Falsification of history is exposed as constructed discourse and past simplifications of reality as sharply demarcated into homogenous self justifying categorisations of Us against Them are challenged with paradox doubt and introspection Nadine Gordimer's July's People Brendon Nicholls, 2013-11-12 Nadine Gordimer is one of the most important writers to emerge in the twentieth century Her anti Apartheid novel July's People 1981 is a powerful example of resistance writing and continues even now to unsettle easy assumptions about issues of power race gender and identity This guide to Gordimer's compelling novel offers an accessible introduction to the text and contexts of July's People a critical history surveying the many interpretations of the text from publication to the present a selection of new and reprinted critical essays on July's People providing a range of perspectives on the novel and extending the coverage of key approaches identified in the critical survey cross references between sections of the guide in order to suggest links between texts contexts and criticism suggestions for further reading Part of the Routledge Guides to Literature series this volume is essential reading for all those beginning detailed study of July's People and seeking not only a guide to the novel but a way through the wealth of contextual and critical material that surrounds Gordimer's text A Dry White Season Andre Brink, 2006-09-19 As startling and powerful as when first published more than two decades ago Andr Brink's classic novel A Dry White Season is an unflinching and unforgettable look at racial intolerance the human condition and the heavy price of morality Ben Du Toit is a white schoolteacher in suburban Johannesburg in a dark time of intolerance and state sanctioned apartheid A simple apolitical man he believes in the essential fairness of the South African government and its policies until the sudden arrest and subsequent suicide of a black janitor from Du Toit s school Haunted by new questions and desperate to believe that the man s death was a tragic accident Du Toit undertakes an investigation into the terrible affair a quest for the truth that will have devastating consequences for the teacher and his family as it draws him into a lethal morass of lies corruption and murder

Post-Apartheid Gothic Mélanie Joseph-Vilain, 2021-03-19 Post-Apartheid Gothic White South African Writers and Space analyzes the representation of space in recent works by South African writers By combining analytical tools borrowed from Gothic studies with geocritical and postcolonial approaches Mélanie Joseph Vilain assesses the literary mechanisms utilized by Damon Galgut Henrietta Rose Innes Lauren Beukes Justin Carwright and Lynn Freed to negotiate the complexities of post apartheid identities in their fiction Joseph Vilain argues that the literary representations of emblematic places real or imagined the home the farm the city or the non places of dystopia express and reveal anxieties linked to the sharing of space in post apartheid South Africa The text successively re visits the places that have been shaping South African white writing since Olive Schreiner's African Farm in other words its topoi both in the etymological sense of place and in the literary sense of recurring themes or arguments Joseph Vilain argues that these Gothicized topoi have provided writers with tools to explore the deep anxieties generated by the redefinition of South African society as the Rainbow Nation While focusing specifically on the South African avatars of the Gothic and their interaction with local forms and genres like the plaasroman the text also discusses the impact of globalization on South African literary cultural social and political identities

In the Middle of Nowhere Jonathan Crewe, 2015-12-01 Relying on the author's personal recollections as well as on J M Coetzee's autobiographical and fictional works this book deals with Coetzee's formation as a writer of international prominence whose life and writing career began in South Africa Drawing on Coetzee's South African writings from Dusklands through Disgrace the book considers Coetzee's initial positioning in provincial South African political and literary culture as well as his drastic reframing of South African letters and his breakout into a global career culminating in the award of the Nobel Prize in 2003 The book considers Coetzee almost exclusively in relation to the South Africa from which he emigrated in 1999 but also emphasizes his momentous revision and undoing of the marginalized genre of South African Literature in the service of global authorship Written in the conviction that Coetzee's South African works remain his most impassioned and momentous ones this book seeks to come to terms with their conditions of possibility and distinctive achievement

Postcolonial Parabola Jay Rajiva, 2017-09-21 Postcolonial Parabola Literature Tactility and the Ethics of Representing Trauma interrogates the relationship between the literary representation of postcolonial trauma and the embodied experience of reading As the conditions from which postcolonial literatures have emerged require a break from proper ways to represent trauma postcolonial writers expand and complicate the practice of reading itself Though postcolonial literature s capacity to represent trauma has received considerable scrutiny in recent years Postcolonial Parabola is innovative in its consideration of the postcolonial text as a literary object Working within a phenomenological framework that ties together disparate postcolonial periods Jay Rajiva explores how narrative structure shapes the experience of reading the postcolonial literatures of South Africa India and Sri Lanka He argues that these texts enmesh the reader in an asymptotic tactility though readers might approach the disclosure of trauma they cannot arrive at it Awareness of the asymptotic nature of reading such works is crucial to a meaningful ethical engagement with literary representations of postcolonial trauma
