Purcell, 2023-08-18 In Lost in Transition Removing Resettling and Renewing Appalachia Aaron D Purcell presents a thematic and chronological exploration of twentieth century removal and resettlement projects across southern Appalachia The book shares complex stories of loss and recollection that have grown and evolved over time This edited volume contains seven case studies of public land removal actions in Virginia Kentucky the Carolinas and Tennessee from the 1930s through the 1960s Some of the removals include the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Norris Basin Shenandoah National Park and the New River the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and the Keowee Toxaway Project in northwestern South Carolina Each essay asks key questions How did governmental entities throughout the twentieth century deal with land acquisition and removal of families and communities What do the oral histories of the families and communities particularly from different generations tell us about the legacies of these removals This collection reveals confrontations between past and present federal agencies and citizens and the original accounts of removal and resettlement and contemporary interpretations The result is a blending of practical historical concerns with contemporary nostalgia and romanticism which often deepen the complexity of Appalachian cultural life Lost in Transition provides a nuanced and insightful study of removal and resettlement projects that applies critical analysis of fact mythology and storytelling It illustrates the important role of place in southern Appalachian history This collection is a helpful resource to anthropologists folklorists and Appalachian studies scholars and a powerful volume of stories for all readers who reflect upon the importance of place and home Mountain Families in Transition Harry K. Toward Just Transitions Shaunna L. Scott, Kathryn Engle, 2025-11-18 Central Appalachia has long endured the exploitation of its abundant natural resources like timber and coal and suffered the ensuing fallout including high poverty low educational attainment and persistent health and environmental problems In Toward Just Transitions editors Shaunna L. Scott and Kathryn Engle explore the regional damage wrought by extractive capitalism and outline the need for just transitions A just transition is a vision led unifying and place based set of principles processes and practices that build economic and political power to shift from an extractive economy to a regenerative economy which supports conservation and faces climate change head on The just transitions movement emphasizes locally based solutions and democratic decision making recognizing there are many perspectives on strategies that will help provide dignified productive and ecologically sustainable livelihoods for all Just as Central Appalachia follows global trends of predatory capitalism so too can it become an example of how to rectify them Toward Just Transitions offers solutions for wresting power from corporations and oligarchs and returning it to the communities and marginalized groups their actions have harmed most Power and Just Transitions John Gaventa, Gabe Schwartzman, 2026-01-06 Published in 1982 John Gaventa's award winning Power and Powerlessness examined the dominance of the absentee coal industry in Central Appalachia Gaventa and Gabe Schwartzman update the story through coal's decline and into the present while focusing on how power relations and community mobilizing have changed and evolved during this era of transition Their analysis tracks the impact on a place where a fossil fuel based economy shaped political and social structures for over a century As they show new forms of power emerged while old ones remained and both affected the popular struggle for a future that's both just and more inclusive Original and timely Power and Just Transitions merges historical perspective with interviews and engagement to look at how coal's decline impacted power and resistance in an Appalachian community Appalachia Bruce Ergood, Bruce E.
