Theory, Methodology, and Applications Abraham Charnes, William W. Cooper, Arie Y. Lewin, Lawrence M.

Seiford, 2013-12-01 This book represents a milestone in the progression of Data Envelopment Analysis (DEA). It is the first reference text which includes a comprehensive review and comparative discussion of the basic DEA models. The development is anchored in a unified mathematical and graphical treatment and includes the most important modeling extensions. In addition, this is the first book that addresses the actual process of conducting DEA analyses, including combining DEA and 1-parametric techniques. The book has three other distinctive features: It traces the applications-driven evolution and diffusion of DEA models and extensions across disciplinary boundaries; It includes a comprehensive bibliography to serve as a source of references as well as a platform for further developments; And finally, the power of DEA analysis is demonstrated through fifteen novel applications which should serve as an inspiration for future applications and extensions of the methodology. The origin of this book was a Conference on New Uses of DEA in Management and Public Policy which was held at the IC Institute of the University of Texas at Austin on September 27-29, 1989. The conference was made possible through NSF Grant SES 8722504. A. Charnes and W. W. Cooper, co-PIs, and the support of the IC Institute.

Runyuan Gan, 2023-02-08 Based on the philosophy of Systems Science and the law of evolution theory, the book, by applying the methods of structural functionalism, divides the modern social system into human culture, economy, polity, science, law, education, and other subsystems through the systematic synthesis of disciplines such as economics, sociology, management, politics, culture, theories, history, and philosophy, and explores the connection between these subsystems and their intricate relation with social progress, thus depicting the historical trajectory of the long-term evolution of the human social system. Starting from the actual production and operation of the firms, the author systematically analyses the organic connections and sophisticated operating process of social reproduction in modern society from micro, meso, and macro, revealing the dynamic structure and evolutionary laws of the social economic system. This book reveals the fractal features such as self-similarity, hierarchy, and recursiveness in the general structure of the firm system, the sector system, and the national economic system, thereby integrating micro, meso, and macro economics into a unified theoretical framework. This integration is interdisciplinary and has gone beyond economics. It can be regarded as the fourth grand synthesis in the history of economics after John Stuart Mill (1806-1873), Alfred Marshall (1842-1924), and Samuelson (1915-2009).
