Souare,2006 Though there have been numerous studies on the United Nations only a few have dealt comprehensively with Africa s relations with the world body This book attempts to fill this lacuna by providing a systematic assessment of Africa s relationship with the World body from its foundation in 1945 to its sixtieth anniversary in 2005 The premise of the book s argument is that to properly understand Africa s current relationship with the UN it is necessary to first understand the history and theoretical underpinnings behind the formation of the world body including the expectations and motives of the different stakeholders The book shows that there have been some real successes in Africa s relationship with the world body such as the joint efforts against the Apartheid regime in South Africa as well as real failures such as in the genocide in Rwanda Based on this it concludes that Africa s relationship with the United Nations has worked for the most part and will work even better if Africa sees its partnership with the UN as complementary to it own efforts projects and initiatives rather than something to depend on book multiple award winning journalist William Mervin Gumede chronicles Mbeki's spectacular rise to dominate Africa's oldest liberation movement. He explores the complex position that Mbeki occupied following in Nelson Mandela's footsteps, holding together an alliance with deep ideological differences and ruling an intensely divided country. Revealing the political and personal tensions behind the scenes, Gumede explains how Mbeki sought to mould the ANC into his image through tight control and exposes the intrigues behind the battle for succession. Covering Mbeki's attempts to modernise the economy and kick start an African Renaissance and investigating his controversial stance on issues from AIDS to Zimbabwe, the book offers invaluable insights into the arcane machinations behind political decisions that touch the lives of millions every day.

Rewilding the World Caroline Fraser, 2014-04-29 A Library Journal Best Sci Tech Book of the Year. A gripping account of the environmental crusade to save the world's most endangered species and landscapes, the last best hope for preserving our natural home. Scientists worldwide are warning of the looming extinction of thousands of species, from tigers and polar bears to rare flowers, birds, and insects. If the destruction continues, a third of all plants and animals could disappear by 2050, and with them, Earth's life-support ecosystems that provide our food, water, medicine, and natural defenses against climate change. Now Caroline Fraser offers the first definitive account of a visionary campaign to confront this crisis: rewilding. Breathtaking in scope and ambition, rewilding aims to save species by restoring habitats, reviving migration corridors, and brokering peace between people and predators. Traveling with wildlife biologists and conservationists, Fraser reports on the vast projects that are turning Europe's former Iron Curtain into a greenbelt, creating trans-frontier Peace Parks to renew elephant routes throughout Africa, and linking protected areas from the Yukon to Mexico and beyond. An inspiring story of scientific discovery and grassroots action, Rewilding the World offers hope for a richer, wilder future. African

Naming Race, Naming Racisms Jonathan Judaken, 2013-09-13. Eschewing social scientific approaches which tend to examine race and racism in terms of quasi-static ideal types, this book surveys differing historical contexts from the era of scientific racism in the nineteenth century to the post-racial racism of the post-9/11 period, and from Europe to the United States, in order to understand how racism has been articulated in differing situations. It is distinguished by the attention it pays to the on-going power of racial discourse in the contemporary period as a legitimating factor in oppression. It exemplifies methodological openness, combining the work of historians, philosophers, religious scholars, and literary critics, and includes differing theoretical models in pursuing a critical approach to race, cultural studies, trauma theory, and psychoanalysis, critical theory, and consideration of the new racism and postcolonialism, and the literature on globalization. It brings together the work of leading academics with younger practitioners, and is capped off by an interview with world renowned intellectual Cornel West on black intellectuals in America This book was previously published as a special issue of Patterns of Prejudice Re-visioning Television Adrian Hadland, Mike Aldridge, Joshua Ogada, 2006 Publisher description
