African Literature Today New Writing New Approaches Vol 12:

Teaching African Literature Today Ernest Emenyonu, 2011 Focuses on theoretical and pedagogical approaches to the teaching of African literature on both sides of the Atlantic and beyond The publication of Chinua Achebe's Things Fall Apart in 1958 drew universal attention not only to contemporary African creative imagination but also established the art of the modern African novel In 1986 Wole Soyinka became the first African to win the Nobel Prize for Literature and opened the gate for other African writers By the close of the 20th century African literature had gained world wide acceptance and legitimacy in the academy and featured on the literature curriculum of schools and colleges across the globe This special issue of African Literature Today examines the diverse experiences of teachers of African literature across regional racial cultural and national boundaries It explores such issues as student responses productive pedagogical innovations the impact of modern technology case studies of online teaching teaching criticism of African literature and teaching African literature in an age of multiculturalism It is intended as an invaluable teacher's handbook and essential student companion for the effective study of African literature

War in African Literature Today Ernest Emenyonu, 2008 This issue of African Literature Today is devoted to studies of how African writers as historical witnesses have handled the recreation of war as a cataclysmic phenomenon in various locations on the continent The theoretical question is whether the fictionalized representation demonstrated equitable balance between socio political messages lessons of war and the sanctity of art aesthetics Contributors have explore the subject from a variety of perspectives panoramic regional national and through comparative studies Was has enriched contemporary African literature but at what price to human lives peace and the environment Publisher's description

Writing Africa in the Short Story Ernest Emenyonu, 2013 The success of the Caine Prize for African Writing and the growth of online publishing have played key roles in putting the short story in its rightful place within the study and criticism of African literature African writers have much more than the critics recognized the beauty and potency of the short story Always the least studied in African literature classrooms and the most critically overlooked genre in African literature today the African short story is now given the attention it deserves Contributors here take a close look at the African short story to re define its own peculiar pedigree chart its trajectory critique its present state and examine its creative possibilities They examine how the short story and the novel complement each other or exist in contradistinction within the context of culture and politics history and public memory legends myths and folklore Ernest Emenyonu is Professor of Africana Studies at the University of Michigan Flint USA the editorial board is composed of scholars from US UK and African universities Nigeria HEBN

New Novels in African Literature Today Ernest Emenyonu, 2010 This work discusses the validity of the perception that the new generation of African novelists is different in vision style and worldview from the older generation The 13 papers have been carefully selected to highlight the contention that the previous generation made culture conflict their sole theme

Speculative & Science Fiction Ernest N.

Emenyonu, Chimalum Nwankwo, Louisa Uchum Egbunike, 2021 Over the past two decades there has been a resurgence in the writing of African and African diaspora speculative and science fiction writing Discussions around the rise of science fiction and fantasy have led to a push back by writers and scholars who have suggested that this is not a new phenomenon in African literature This collection focuses on the need to recalibrate ways of reading and categorising this genre of African writing through critical examinations both of classics such as Kofi Anyidoho's Woman of the Aeroplanes 1988 and Ngũgĩ wa Thiong'o's oeuvre as well as more recent fiction from writers including Nnedi Okorafor Namwali Serpell and Masande Ntshanga Back cover
