The Caribbean AIDS Epidemic Glenford D. Howe, Alan Gregor Coble, 2000 This is an examination of the Caribbean AIDS epidemic

HIV/AIDS in the Caribbean, 2001-01-01 It is estimated in this region that more than half a million people are infected with HIV Efforts are needed if inroads are to be made against the AIDS epidemic Although many Caribbean governments have initiated a limited response to HIV AIDS much remains to be done This report provides an overview of the challenges and opportunities in addressing the problem of HIV AIDS in the Caribbean It presents a snapshot of the HIV AIDS epidemic in the region and offers examples of ways in which Caribbean countries and regional bodies such as the Caribbean Community have responded to the epidemic discusses alternative actions for addressing the crisis and highlights a range of strategies for donor coordination and cooperation in the region Finally the report identifies the potential role of the World Bank in addressing the HIV AIDS epidemic in the Caribbean

The HIV/AIDS Epidemic in the Caribbean, 2009 Overview The Caribbean's first case of what was later identified as AIDS was officially recorded in Jamaica in 1982 9 As of the end of 2008 an estimated 240 000 people were living with HIV AIDS in the Caribbean and in 2007 more than three quarters of people living with HIV AIDS lived in the two countries of Hispaniola Island Dominican Republic and Haiti The HIV AIDS prevalence rate in the region 1 0% in 2008 is second only to sub Saharan Africa 5 2% and higher than the global prevalence rate 0 8% However the prevalence rate in the Caribbean remained stable at 1 0% between 2001 and 2008 Rates among countries vary from a low of 0 1% in Cuba to a high of 3 0% in the Bahamas There were 20 000 new HIV infections in the region in 2008 and 12 000 deaths AIDS is one of the Caribbean's leading causes of death among those aged 25 44 HIV is spread primarily through heterosexual sex in the Caribbean with commercial sex playing a large role in many places although transmission patterns vary across the region and within countries While sex between men is also an important factor in HIV transmission in the region stigma and discrimination make it difficult to assess the extent of its role and to reach those at risk Injecting drug use plays a small role in transmission in most countries in the region with the exception of Bermuda and Puerto Rico where injecting drug use is the key factor in transmission There are signs of potential stabilization of HIV prevalence and or reductions in some countries including the Bahamas Barbados the Dominican Republic and Haiti
