Income Distribution & Energy Poverty: A General Overview Hale Kirer Silva Lecuna, Hikmet Gülçin Beken, 2023-12-04
Energy has become a vital and driving factor in the modern global environment impacting every aspect of human existence. The significance of this reaches across all facets of civilization encompassing electricity generation, heating, transportation, and industrial activities. However, substantial differences in the availability and utilization of energy contribute to the basis of internal disparities which have an impact on the welfare of communities globally. This pioneering research reveals the fundamental factors behind these disparities, providing valuable perspectives on the significant influence of income distribution and economic inequities. The book examines the relationship between income distribution and access to energy, revealing how economic discrepancies impact the availability of energy supplies. Moreover, it highlights the urgent need for laws and efforts that specifically target these unfair practices with the goal of achieving a fairer allocation of energy resources and improving the general well-being of communities worldwide.

Consumers, Corporations, and Public Health John A. Quelch, 2016-01-06
Consumers, Corporations, and Public Health assembles 17 case studies at the intersection of business and public health to illustrate how each side can inform and benefit the other. Through contemporary examples from a variety of industries and geographies, this collection provides students with an appreciation for the importance of consumer empowerment and consumer behavior in shaping both health and corporate outcomes.

Constructing the Pluriverse Bernd Reiter, 2018-08-23
The contributors to Constructing the Pluriverse critique the hegemony of the postcolonial Western tradition and its claims to universality by offering a set of pluriversal approaches to understanding the coexisting epistemologies and practices of the different worlds and problems we inhabit and encounter. Moving beyond critiques of colonialism, the contributors rethink the relationship between knowledge and power, offering new perspectives on development, democracy, and ideology while providing diverse methodologies for non-Western thought and practice that range from feminist approaches to scientific research to ways of knowing expressed through West African oral traditions. In combination, these wide-ranging approaches and understandings form a new analytical toolbox for those seeking creative solutions for dismantling Westernization throughout the world.
