

Carmilla and The Haunted Baronet

A woman with long brown hair, wearing a patterned dress, is seated in a gothic-style room. She has her hands clasped near her chin and is looking directly at the viewer. The room features a large, ornate window with a circular design. Several black bat silhouettes are scattered throughout the scene, including one in the top right corner, one to the left of the woman, and one at the bottom center.

in Ireland that he did not have to live in Dublin to attend lectures but could study at home and take examinations at the university as and when necessary This enabled him to also write and by 1838 Le Fanu's first story The Ghost and the Bonesetter was published in the Dublin University Magazine Many of the short stories he wrote at the time were to form the basis for his future novels Indeed throughout his career Le Fanu would constantly revise cannibalise embellish and re publish his earlier works to use in his later efforts Between 1838 and 1840 Le Fanu had written and published twelve stories which purported to be the literary remains of an 18th century Catholic priest called Father Purcell Set mostly in Ireland they include classic stories of gothic horror with grim shadowed castles as well as supernatural visitations from beyond the grave together with madness and suicide One of the themes running through them is a sad nostalgia for the dispossessed Catholic aristocracy of Ireland whose ruined castles stand in mute salute and testament to this history On 18 December 1844 Le Fanu married Susanna Bennett the daughter of a leading Dublin barrister The union would produce four children Le Fanu was now stretching his talents across the length of a novel and his first was The Cock and Anchor published in 1845 A succession of works followed and his reputation grew as well as his income Unfortunately a decade after his marriage it became an increasing source of difficulty Susanna was prone to suffer from a range of neurotic symptoms including great anxiety after the deaths of several close relatives including her father two years before In April 1858 she suffered an hysterical attack and died in circumstances that are still unclear The anguish profound guilt as well as overwhelming loss were channeled into Le Fanu's work Working only by the light of two candles he would write through the night and burnish his reputation as a major figure of 19th Century supernaturalism His work challenged the focus on the external source of horror and instead he wrote about it from the perspective of the inward psychological potential to strike fear in the hearts of men A series of books now came forth Wylder's Hand 1864 Guy Deverell 1865 The Tenants of Malory 1867 The Green Tea 1869 The Haunted Baronet 1870 Mr Justice Harbottle 1872 The Room in the Dragon Volant 1872 and In a Glass Darkly 1872 But his life was drawing to a close Joseph Thomas Sheridan Le Fanu died in Merrion Square in his native Dublin on February 7th 1873 at the age of 58

God & the Gothic Alison Milbank, 2018-10-18 God and the Gothic Romance and Reality in the English Literary Tradition provides a complete reimaging of the Gothic literary canon to examine its engagement with theological ideas tracing its origins to the apocalyptic critique of the Reformation female martyrs and to the Dissolution of the monasteries now seen as usurping authorities A double gesture of repudiation and regret is evident in the consequent search for political aesthetic and religious mediation which characterizes the aftermath of the Glorious Revolution and Whig Providential discourse Part one interprets eighteenth century Gothic novels in terms of this Whig debate about the true heir culminating in Ann Radcliffe's melancholic theology which uses distance and loss to enable a new mediation Part two traces the origins of the doppelgänger in Calvinist anthropology and establishes that its employment by a range of Scottish writers offers a productive mode of subjectivity necessary in a culture equally concerned with historical continuity In part three Irish Gothic is shown to be seeking ways to mediate between Catholic and Protestant identities through models of sacrifice and ecumenism while in part four nineteenth century Gothic is read as increasingly theological responding to materialism by a project of re enchantment Ghost story writers assert the metaphysical priority of the supernatural to establish the material world Arthur Machen and other Order of the Golden Dawn members explore the double and other Gothic tropes as modes of mystical ascent while raising the physical to the spiritual through magical control and the M R James circle restore the sacramental and psychical efficacy of objects
