African Writing Today Charles Angoff, John Povey, 1969 Teaching African Literature Today Ernest Emenyonu, 2011
Focuses on theoretical and pedagogical approaches to the teaching of African literature on both sides of the Atlantic and beyond The publication of Chinua Achebe's Things Fall Apart in 1958 drew universal attention not only to contemporary African creative imagination but also established the art of the modern African novel In 1986 Wole Soyinka became the first African to win the Nobel Prize for Literature and opened the gate for other African writers By the close of the 20th century African literature had gained world wide acceptance and legitimacy in the academy and featured on the literature curriculum of schools and colleges across the globe This special issue of African Literature Today examines the diverse experiences of teachers of African literature across regional racial cultural and national boundaries It explores such issues as student responses productive pedagogical innovations the impact of modern technology case studies of online teaching teaching criticism of African literature and teaching African literature in an age of multiculturalism It is intended as an invaluable teacher's handbook and essential student companion for the effective study of African literature South African Writing Today, 1967 War in African Literature Today Ernest Emenyonu, 2008 This issue of African Literature Today is devoted to studies of how African writers as historical witnesses have handled the recreation of war as a cataclysmic phenomenon in various locations on the continent The theoretical question is whether the fictionalized representation demonstrated equitable balance between socio-political messages lessons of war and the sanctity of art aesthetics Contributors have explored the subject from a variety of perspectives panoramic regional national and through comparative studies Was has enriched contemporary African literature but at what price to human lives peace and the environment Publisher's description
African Literature Today, 2008 New Directions in African Literature Ernest Emenyonu, Patricia Thornton Emenyonu, F. D. Imbuga, 2006 Contributors to this volume ask what are the new directions of African literature What should be the major concerns of writers critics and teachers in the twenty first century What are the accomplishments and legacies What gaps remain to be filled and what challenges are there to be addressed by publishers and the book industry What are the implications for pedagogy in the new technological era ERNEST EMENYONU is Professor of the Department of Africana Studies University of Michigan Flint North America Africa World Press Nigeria HEBN Childhood in African Literature Eldred D. Jones, Marjorie Jones, 1998 African authors have consistently returned to childhood to find their personal as well as their racial roots Far from being merely nostalgic yearnings for a lost paradise many of the treatments of childhood as shown in articles in this issue have exposed a grim reality of cruelty harshness parental particularly paternal egocentrism and extraordinary bruising of the vulnerable child psyche Camara Laye may have portrayed a paradise state but Yvonne Vera has treated one of the cruelest features of childhood anywhere African authors generally have been sternly responsible in their portrayal of childhood Publisher's description African Writing Today Es'kia Mphahlele, 1967 African Writing

Today Ezekiel Mphahlele,1970 New Novels in African Literature Today Ernest Emenyonu,2010 This work discusses the validity of the perception that the new generation of African novelists is different in vision style and worldview from the older generation The 13 papers have been carefully selected to highlight the contention that the previous generation made culture conflict their sole theme African Literature Today Ernest Emenyonu,2019 AFRICAN LITERATURE TODAY was established at a time of uncertainty and reconstruction but for 50 years it has played a leading role in nurturing imaginative creativity and its criticism on the African continent and beyond Oral & Written Poetry in African Literature Today Eldred D. Jones,1989 Women in African Literature Today Eldred D. Jones,Eustace Palmer,Marjorie Jones,1987 This issue of African Literature Today is entirely devoted to African women writers and to the presentation of women in African Literature This is a recognition of two important facts Firstly that African women writers as a number of articles show have been neglected in male authored studies and journals Secondly that the last ten years or so have at last despite all sociological factors against them shown a blossoming of accomplished works by African women writers Running through the articles is the refrain that the cause of womanhood has been inadequately served by African male writers in their works It is maintained by Sylvia Bryan and Jennifer Evans that there are some men writers who have portrayed independent complex women characters However in the final analysis it has to be left as Katherine Frank suggests to women writers to present female characters with a destiny of their own Publisher s description The Question of Language in African Literature Today Eldred D. Jones,1991 North America Africa World Press Orature in African Literature Today Eldred D. Jones,Eustace Palmer,Marjorie Jones,1992 African novelists playwrights and poets even when they are writing in one of the colonial languages draw on their rich ethnic bases These resources provide ideas themes and linguistic delight The myriad languages of the continent although used today mainly for workday communication have through the centuries been vehicles for the oral artistic verbal compositions and transmission now formalized as orature Publisher s description African Literature Association Newsletter African Literature Association,1974 African Writing Today ; Edited by Ezekiel Mphahlele Es'kia Mphahlele,1967 The Companion to African Literatures G.
