African Centered Education:

African-Centered Education Kmt G. Shockley, Kofi Lomotey, 2020-07-31 This volume brings together leading scholars and practitioners to address the theory and practice of African centered education The contributors provide 1 perspectives on the history methods successes and challenges of African centered education 2 discussions of the efforts that are being made to counter the miseducation of Black children and 3 prescriptions for and analyses of the way forward for Black children and Black communities The authors argue that Black children need an education that moves them toward leading and taking agency within their own communities They address several areas that capture the essence of what African centered education is how it works and why it is a critical imperative at this moment Those areas include historical analyses of African centered education parental perspectives strategies for working with Black children African centered culture science and STEM culturally responsive curriculum and instruction and culturally responsive resources for teachers and school leaders

African-Centered Schooling in Theory and Practice Cheryl S. Ajirotutu, Diane S. Pollard, 2000-04-30 Although schools with an African centered educational focus have existed for over 200 years they have most often been independent institutions Within the past few years the idea of incorporating an African and African American cultural orientation in public schools has been explored This exploration has proceeded in a number of ways in Baltimore MD African centered education was instituted in selected classrooms within an otherwise traditional school In Milwaukee and in other cities such as Detroit MI and Washington DC African centered programs have been implemented in selected schools

African-Centered Pedagogy Peter C. Murrell Jr., 2012-02-01 What can teachers administrators families and communities do to create schools that provide rich learning experiences for African American children Based on a critical reinterpretation of several key educational frameworks African Centered Pedagogy is a practical guide to accomplished teaching Murrell suggests integrating the historical cultural political and developmental considerations of the African American experience into a unified system of instruction bringing to light those practices that already exist and linking them to contemporary ideas and innovations that concern effective practice in African American communities This is then applied through a case study analysis of a school seeking to incorporate the unified theory and embrace African centered practice Murrell argues that key educational frameworks although currently ineffective with African American children hold promise if reinterpreted

Afrocentric Education Cynthia Diana Cornelius, MS Cynthia Diana Cornelius M a Ed, 2013-01-13 Afrocentric Education And Its Importance In African American Children And Youth Development And Academic Excellence A Comprehensive Analysis This comprehensive analysis will examine the value and viability of Afrocentricity and African Centered Education as alternatives to Eurocentric education and critically analyze the theoretical frameworks of Afrocentricity as pedagogy for children and youth It will seek to answer the following questions Does Afrocentricity in children and youth shape their identity Does Afrocentricity in children and youth shape their academic achievement and Does

Afrocentricity in children and youth shape their development The Importance of an African Centered Education for African American Children Rosalie Peoples,2024-07-22 The focus of an African centered education for African American children is to incorporate them into their learning and place them at the center This book presents a well balanced combination of published articles detailing how African American and European views teaching African American children from an African centered approach To gain insight into the topic interviews were conducted with school administrators instructors parents and students Student interviews were conducted to gauge their knowledge of prominent African Americans Parent interviews were conducted to understand their thoughts on their child being taught from an African centered approach Interviews with school personnel provide their views on students learning from an African centered approach Through research this book provides both the pros and cons of teaching African American students from an African centered approach from the perspectives of various scholars of both European and African American descent The focus of this research is to help educators understand the importance of African American students seeing themselves in all aspects of education while erasing nonfactual information and replacing it with information that explains how the African race contributed to shaping the world we live in today The African Centered School Movement and the Detroit Public School System Jeffery Del'Shawn Robinson,2008 African-centered Education Haki R. Madhubuti,Safisha L. Madhubuti,1994 This book legitimizes the need for African centered education at an early age in child development

Afrocentric Education Cynthia Diana Cornelius,2014-07-05 This book consists of a comprehensive analysis of Afrocentricity Afrocentric and African Centered Education and the value and viability of these paradigms as alternatives to the current Eurocentric educational system in the United States It will seek to critically analyze the theoretical frameworks of Afrocentricity as pedagogy for children and youth It will seek to answer the following questions 1 Does Afrocentricity in children and youth shape their identity 2 Does Afrocentricity in children and youth shape their academic achievement 3 Does Afrocentricity in children and youth shape their development With over 70% of African American children attending public schools school districts can no longer afford to authorize and implement curriculum and instruction that is not culturally relevant to their lives Afrocentric Education and Its Importance in African American Children and Youth Development and Academic Excellence Cynthia Diana Cornelius,2014-05-22 This book consists of a comprehensive analysis of Afrocentricity and Afrocentric African Centered Education and the value and viability of these paradigms as alternatives to the current Eurocentric educational system in the United States It will seek to critically analyze the theoretical frameworks of Afrocentricity as pedagogy for children and youth It will seek to answer the following questions 1 Does Afrocentricity in children and youth shape their identity 2 Does Afrocentricity in children and youth shape their academic achievement 3 Does Afrocentricity in children and youth shape their development With over 70% of African American children attending public schools school districts can no longer afford to authorize and implement curriculum and instruction that is not culturally relevant to their lives The Effectiveness of African Centered Education Deana M. Gordon,2015 Academic and Social Missions and the Seven Principles of an African-centered Education in Michigan's Postsecondary African-American History Classes Whitney Laurence Woods,1996 The Push for African-Centered Education Cassandra J. St. Vil,2017-07-13

The Push for African Centered Education engages with Black identity in the United States It offers ideas for inclusion of Black identity in the high school setting and curricula It can be useful for educators of any ethnic cultural or racial background working to improve understanding of Black identity among multicultural adolescents African-centered Education and Its Influence on Student Behavior & Self-efficacy Erika René Brown,2020 This mixed methods study investigated the influence of African centered education on African American students behavior and self efficacy compared to African American students in a traditional American middle school setting Administrator interviews revealed two different leadership styles Teacher surveys indicated a difference between African centered educators and those in a traditional setting regarding their beliefs that their administrator consistently enforced rules for conduct with the African centered location noting more consistent enforcement Teacher focus group interviews reflected an infusion of African culture within daily district mandated lessons and implied that a team culture and sense of community existed within the African centered work environment Classroom observations revealed that African centered learners had higher levels of academic engagement than the students at the traditional location No significant difference was found with students levels of disruptiveness or respectfulness Additionally self efficacy differences in students beliefs indicated that the students at the African centered school could better handle unforeseen situations resolve problems think of and handle anything that came their way These results suggest that the African centered environment instilled students with an optimistic confidence which promoted higher self esteem and determination African-centered Education Ina Walker,2001 A Journey of Transformation Ebony Marie Roberts,2002 Building Confidence, Not Suspensions: The Case for African-Centered Education Zahara,2024-06-21 The quote that opens this book is from an article titled In The American Public Education System Black Children Are the New Cotton written by father educational activist and writer Chris Stewart Stewart s fundamental argument is that w hite America always has an interest in the education of Black folks but never for the purposes of Back people s freedom 6 Instead of being the nurturing environment that builds confidence that America s Black youth need to survive in this world far too many schoolhouses across America ranging from preschool to high school are nothing more than penitentiaries where Black bodies are prisoners of war For example many Black children attend schools with more metal detectors than mental health services more police officers than counselors and more of a look of a starter prison than a school 7 New Perspectives on African-Centred Education in Canada George Jerry Sefa Dei,Arlo Kempf,2013 New Perspectives on African Centred Education in Canada is the first study of African centred schooling in the Canadian context Starting with an in depth look at the creation of an Africentric public school within the Toronto District

School Board it tells the story of the movement behind that school's creation and lays bare a rich history of activism organization and resistance on the part of numerous African Canadian communities and their allies The book presents a critical overview of the issues facing racialized students and offers a unique vision of African centred education as a strategy for student engagement and social transformation The authors well known public commentators on African centred education in Canada offer a comprehensive analysis of the media controversy surrounding African centred schools as well as candid reflections on the personal challenges of fighting a largely unpopular battle Education as Freedom Noel S. Anderson, Haroon Khareem, 2009-01-16 Before the founding of the United States enslaved Africans advocated literacy as a method of emancipation During the Reconstruction period after the Civil War blacks were at the forefront of the debates on the establishment of public schools in the South In fact a wealth of ideas about the role of education in American freedom and progress emerged from African American civic political and religious communities and was informed by the complexity of the Black experience in America Education as Freedom African American Educational Thought and Activism is a groundbreaking edited text that documents and reexamines African American empirical methodological and theoretical contributions to knowledge making teaching and learning and American education from the nineteenth through the twenty first century the most dynamic period of African American educational thought and activism African American thought and activism regarding education burgeoned from traditional academic disciplines such as philosophy and art mathematics and the natural sciences and history and psychology from the Black church as well as from grassroots political social cultural and educational activism with the desire to assess the stake of African Americans in modernity Alchemy of the Soul Joyce Piert, 2015 Joyce Piert offers this book as a critical resource to parents educators potential teachers community leaders and policymakers who are seriously pondering the question of how to provide all students with a holistic educational experience African-centered Education Nicole West-Burns, 1997
