African Madness:

African Madness Alex Shoumatoff, 1990 The four extraordinary tales of contemporary African reality in this book will continue the fascination with Africa that has been demonstrated most recently by interest in Gorillas in the Mist

Anthropological Structures of Madness in Black Africa Ibrahima Sow, 1980      Medicine and Empire Pratik Chakrabarti, 2013-12-13 The history of modern medicine is inseparable from the history of imperialism Medicine and Empire provides an introduction to this shared history spanning three centuries and covering British French and Spanish imperial histories in Africa Asia and America Exploring the major developments in European medicine from the seventeenth century to the mid twentieth century Pratik Chakrabarti shows that the major developments in European medicine had a colonial counterpart and were closely intertwined with European activities overseas The increasing influence of natural history on medicine The growth of European drug markets The rise of surgeons in status Ideas of race and racism Advancements in sanitation and public health The expansion of the modern quarantine system The emergence of Germ theory and global vaccination campaigns Drawing on recent scholarship and primary texts this book narrates a mutually constitutive history in which medicine was both a tool and a product of imperialism and provides an original accessible insight into the deep historical roots of the problems that plague global health today      The Madame Curie Complex Julie Des Jardins, 2010-10-06 Why are the fields of science and technology still considered to be predominantly male professions The Madame Curie Complex moves beyond the most common explanations limited access to professional training lack of resources exclusion from social networks of men to give historical context and unexpected revelations about women's contributions to the sciences Exploring the lives of Jane Goodall Rosalind Franklin Rosalyn Yalow Barbara McClintock Rachel Carson and the women of the Manhattan Project Julie Des Jardins considers their personal and professional stories in relation to their male counterparts Albert Einstein Robert Oppenheimer Enrico Fermi to demonstrate how the gendered culture of science molds the methods structure and experience of the work With lively anecdotes and vivid detail The Madame Curie Complex reveals how women scientists have often asked different questions used different methods come up with different explanations for phenomena in the natural world and how they have forever transformed a scientist's role      Your Madness, Not Mine Juliana Makuchi Abbenyi-Nfah, 1999-02-28 Women's writing in Cameroon has so far been dominated by Francophone writers The short stories in this collection represent the yearnings and vision of an Anglophone woman who writes both as a Cameroonian and as a woman whose life has been shaped by the minority status her people occupy within the nation state The stories in Your Madness Not Mine are about postcolonial Cameroon but especially about Cameroonian women who probe their day to day experiences of survival and empowerment as they deal with gender oppression from patriarchal expectations to the malaise of maldevelopment unemployment and the attraction of the West for young Cameroonians Makuchi has given us powerful portraits of the people of postcolonial Africa in the so called global village who too often go unseen and unheard

Wild Bush Tribes of Tropical Africa G. Cyril Claridge, 1922      Colonial Madness Richard C. Keller, 2008-09-15

Nineteenth century French writers and travelers imagined Muslim colonies in North Africa to be realms of savage violence lurid sexuality and primitive madness Colonial Madness traces the genealogy and development of this idea from the beginnings of colonial expansion to the present revealing the ways in which psychiatry has been at once a weapon in the arsenal of colonial racism an innovative branch of medical science and a mechanism for negotiating the meaning of difference for republican citizenship Drawing from extensive archival research and fieldwork in France and North Africa Richard Keller offers much more than a history of colonial psychology Colonial Madness explores the notion of what French thinkers saw as an inherent mental intellectual and behavioral rift marked by the Mediterranean as well as the idea of the colonies as an experimental space freed from the limitations of metropolitan society and reason These ideas have modern relevance Keller argues reflected in French thought about race and debates over immigration and France's postcolonial legacy

African Apocalypse Robert R. Edgar, Hilary Sapire, 2000 Her preaching alarmed government officials who sought to silence her by committing her to a nearby mental asylum eventually relocating her to a Pretoria asylum some six hundred miles from her home
