Constructs of "home" in Gloria Naylor's Quartet Claudia Drieling, 2011 We Are an African People Russell Rickford, 2016-01-14 During the height of the Black Power movement of the late 1960s and 1970s dozens of Pan African nationalist private schools from preschools to post secondary ventures appeared in urban settings across the United States The small independent enterprises were often accused of teaching hate and were routinely harassed by authorities Yet these institutions served as critical mechanisms for transmitting black consciousness Founded by activist intellectuals and other radicalized veterans of the civil rights movement the schools strove not simply to bolster the academic skills and self esteem of inner city African American youth but also to decolonize minds and foster a vigorous and regenerative sense of African identity In We Are An African People historian Russell Rickford traces the intellectual lives of these autonomous black institutions established dedicated to pursuing the self determination that the integrationist civil rights movement had failed to provide Influenced by Third World theorists and anticolonial campaigns organizers of the schools saw formal education as a means of creating a vanguard of young activists devoted to the struggle for black political sovereignty throughout the world Most of the institutions were short lived and they offered only modest numbers of children a genuine alternative to substandard inner city public schools Yet their stories reveal much about Pan Africanism as a social and intellectual movement and as a key part of an indigenous black nationalism Rickford uses this largely forgotten movement to explore a particularly fertile period of political cultural and social revitalization that strove to revolutionize African American life and envision an alternate society Reframing the post civil rights era as a period of innovative organizing he depicts the prelude to the modern Afrocentric movement and contributes to the ongoing conversation about urban educational reform race and identity African Books in Print ,1978 The African Book Publishing Record ,2005 African American Parent's Guide Mary Sood,1991 African-USA [magazine] ,1994 From Niggas to Gods Akil,Andre Akil,1996 Long Awaited Much Anticipated But let me ask the question Have you been vaccinated Because here comes an Inoculation of Truth Guaranteed to immunize you niggativity proof Niggativity is that deadly mental disease killing off the Black Community making us live like slaves even though we born free But exempt and liberated God will soon be God will soon Be Here comes that healing cupful of truth Bitter to some but sweet to the true So pass the cup after you have drank the down And never again let evil hold The Originals Dow American Legacy ,1996 Writing Out Your Life Jo Stanley,1998 Lively and full of fresh ideas Writing Out Your Life encourages women to write autobiographical in exciting new ways Designed for both individual and group use this book covers everything from the moment of starting to the possibilities of publishing and is packed with exercises and examples of other s processes and how to overcome fears and resistance how to find background material from local history archives libraries family memorabilia and oral testimony African Holistic Health Llaila O.
