African Savannas Global Narratives And Local Knowledge Of Environment:

African Savannas Thomas J. Bassett, Donald Crummey, 2003 In an interdisciplinary collection of essays collaborative research findings are cited to reveal the extent to which the savannas are being degraded causing chaos in the huge areas affected The findings show that such degradation has not occurred and that such long held views are based on faulty thinking

Shaping the African Savannah Michael Bollig, 2020-07-02 The southern African savannah landscape has been framed as an Arid Eden in recent literature as one of Africa s most sought after exotic tourism destinations by twenty first century travellers as a last frontier by early twentieth century travellers and as an ancient ancestral land by Namibia s Herero communities In this 150 year history of the region Michael Bollig looks at how this Arid Eden came into being how this last frontier was construed and how local pastoralists relate to the landscape Putting the intricate and changing relations between humans arid savannah grasslands and its co evolving animal inhabitants at the centre of his analysis this history of material relations of power struggles between commercial hunters and wildlife between wealthy cattle patrons and foraging clients between established homesteads and recent migrants conservationists and pastoralists Finally Bollig highlights how futures are being aspired to and planned for between the increasing challenges of climate change global demands for cheap ores and quests for biodiversity conservation

Environmental Change and African Societies Julia Tischler, Ingo Haltermann, 2019-10-07 The volume Environmental Change and African Societies contributes to current debates on global climate change from the perspectives of the social sciences and the humanities It charts past and present environmental change in different African settings and also discusses policies and scenarios for the future The first section Ideas enquires into local perceptions of the environment followed by contributions on historical cases of environmental change and state regulation The section Present addresses decision making and agenda setting processes related to current representations and or predicted effects of climate change The section Prospects is concerned with contemporary African megatrends The authors move across different scales of investigation from locally grounded ethnographic analyses to discussions on continental trends and international policy Contributors are Daniel Callo Concha Joy Clancy Manfred Denich Sara de Wit Ton Dietz Irit Eguavoen Ben Fanstone Ingo Haltermann Laura Jeffrey Emmanuel Kreike Vimbai Kwashirai James C McCann Bertrand F Nero Jonas Nielsen Erick G Tambo Julia Tischler

Savannas and Dry Forests Andrea Berardi, 2017-05-15 Parched landscapes biodiversity loss encroaching deserts and deforestation are some of the environmental crises taking place in tropical savannas and dry forests throughout the world To date much research into these regions has treated humans as outside or as an impact only However over and over again examples show that in fact humans are not external factors but integral components of these systems Humans are key determinants of savannas and dry forests affecting patterns and processes as well as impacts on natural resources Unless we understand the human environment relationship in these regions we will never truly identify the causes or be able to provide solutions This book therefore focuses on the roles of the past present and future human perceptions and actions on savannas and dry forests It examines how the views of local farmers NGO workers government officials and international scientists differ on the links between the social and ecological components of savannas It deals with these multiple perspectives by using systems diagramming and conceptual modelling to provide a clearer and more explicit understanding and to promote better communication between the various actors concerned

Dynamics of Forest Ecosystems in Central Africa During the Holocene: Past - Present - Future J.

Runge,2014-04-21 Bringing together experts from several disciplines this volume collects the best papers presented at the international workshop on Environmental and Cultural Change in West and Central Africa held in Cameroon March 2006

Problems of Holocene and Late Pleistocene modifications of the rain forest savanna fringe and their possible influence on cultural innovations are discussed This is an important resource for those concerned with tropical forests and related development problems of third world countries It is an excellent source of information for new original manuscripts on the topic of Late Pleistocene and Holocene landscape evolution in the lower latitudes of Africa
