Afro Christian Vision Ozovehe Toward A More Humanized World:

The Humanitarian Engagement of the Church in Nigeria Emmanuel Ayeboame ,2019-05 Human dignity decent life and human rights are effects of extensive humanitarian struggles by a people to achieve reasonable life for all The possibility of such El Dorado was stalled in the past by unforeseen circumstances and other man made tribulations in global history However these struggles will remain incomplete without a global perspective Thus taking the responsibility to understand humanity and her shortfalls in other parts of the globe becomes necessary This quest consequently triggers the thorough study on how where and why their plight is intrinsically tied to their social cultural religious and political background Such genuine consequent studies can uproot the causal effect and thus guarantee the success of that developmental slogan of helping people to help themselves This study attempts to provide a platform that could chart a path towards sustainable answers to basic social questions Embodiment, Morality, and Medicine Lisa Sowle Cahill,M.A. Farley,1995-07-31 Embodiment Morality and Medicine deals with the relevance of embodiment to bioethics considering both the historical development and contemporary perspectives on the mind body relation The emphasis of all authors is on the importance of the body in defining personal identity as well as on the role of social context in shaping experience of the body Among the perspectives considered are Christian Jewish Islamic Buddhist and African American Feminist concerns are important throughout Poverty and the Church in Igboland, Nigeria Anthony Okwudili Achunonu,2012-11-05 The main objective of this book is to re evaluate the true meaning of the term poverty in the world as a whole and in Nigeria in particular From a sociological point of view poverty is the natural consequence of economic inequity amongst social groups a type of inequity often generated by the inability of the political class to provide and maintain basic amenities in the society This book highlights so many complex reasons that are responsible for this type of inability prominent amongst them being mismanagement of funds in most political setups Our investigation from this book shows that theres a great difference between the various forms of poverty in western countries and in other countries of the world Poverty may be caused by individual social cultural ethical and moral issues These various causes of poverty are often correlated In Nigeria poverty is mainly caused by lack of moral sensitivities amongst political leaders and by lack of initiatives for cultural social and economic empowerment of the less privileged Most striking is the fact that there is no basic well established governmental structure meant to assist those who languish in poverty This book discusses the real life situation of those who suffer and are living in abject poverty The book also discusses proposals that can help improve their condition In line with this the effective contributions the church can make in order to fight poverty will be taken into consideration In fact it is not enough for the church to know that the situation of long term injustice in Nigeria is crippling the country rather she has also to live up to her mission vis vis the poor and the marginalised who are living in the country Religion, Conflict, and Democracy in Modern Africa Samuel K. Efolia,2012-03-02 Spanning various regions of Sub Saharan Africa the authors of this volume come together to explore the complex relationship between religion and democracy in contemporary Africa. As a result of the end of the Cold War and the fall of the Soviet Union, many African countries have come to the realization, however partial, that political and social change is inevitable in spite of government heavy handedness and threats. It has also become evident that no political system that refuses to permit freedom of political expression and alternative systems of governance could continue to be sustained. It is in precisely this political climate that religious institutions have collaborated with other elements of civil society to call for political reforms, with the church often becoming the prominent voice against oppressive governments in countries such as Kenya and South Africa. It is the purpose of this book to assess how religion shapes political issues and to what extent religious forces influence the civil society. By acknowledging the role of the civil society, the essays recognize the resilience that comes out of Africa even when the sociopolitical situation seems unbearable. An Introduction to Religious and Theological Studies, Second Edition Cyril Orji, 2021-01-07. An Introduction to Religious and Theological Studies walks students through topical issues to be encountered in the study of the Abrahamic religions: Judaism, Christianity, and Islam, as these religions encounter other religions in the context of the wider ecumenism. The text is written from a Christian point of view and aims at helping students understand that to be Christian is to be ecumenical. African Traditional Religions (ATRs) has been included in this survey to provide background for the religious traditions and cultures of peoples of Africa as Christianity moves inexorably southward. The book has been written with undergraduate general education students in mind, including meeting the needs of those in seminaries and theological institutes. New Evangelisation and Christian Moral Theology Michael Ifeanyinachukwu Mozia, 1993. Nurturing Child and Adolescent Spirituality Karen-Marie Yust, 2006. Nurturing Child and Adolescent Spirituality: Perspectives from the World's Religious Traditions provides a forum for prominent religious scholars to examine the state of religious knowledge and theological reflection on spiritual development in childhood and adolescence. Featuring essays from thinkers representing the world's major religious traditions, the book introduces new voices, challenges assumptions, raises new questions, and broadens the base of knowledge and investment in this important domain of life. It specifically and intentionally focuses on theological and philosophical perspectives from within religious traditions, creating space for the religious traditions to find their voices. Nurturing Child and Adolescent Spirituality is firmly grounded in the language and priorities of religious studies and helps stimulate explorations of whether and how religious communities are tapping their own wisdom and strengths in nurturing today's young people in a complex and changing world. Nurturing Child and Adolescent Spirituality will set the stage for new waves of scholarship and dialogue within and across traditions, disciplines, and cultures that will enrich understanding and strengthen how the world's religious traditions and others understand and cultivate the spiritual lives of children and adolescents around the globe. Rediscovering the Human Andrea M. Ng'weshemi, 2002. By assuming that the data for understanding the human being and human nature is given and therefore remains the same at all times and in all places.

Christian theological anthropology has barely quenched the quests for meaning and fulfillment that have constantly emerged in every age. Modern western theologians such as Barth and Rahner have sought to tie theological anthropology with Christology with the conviction that Jesus Christ is paradigmatic of what humanity should be. Journal of Arabic and Religious Studies, 1993. An Afro-Christian Vision George Omaku Ehusani, 1991. This book demonstrates that modern Western civilization is sustained by a purely materialistic and therefore reductionist world view, a world view which has earned for the West its technological, economic and political ascendancy but also one by which it now leads the world in a race to oblivion. In this work the author points to the wealth of human and spiritual values in the African cultural legacy which have been ignored by the rest of the world in favor of an overtly materialistic axiology and which the contemporary African elite is under pressure to abandon in pursuit of goods and technology. With the Ebirá notion of ozovehe the human person is life as a point of departure, the book uses as its text a combination of African orature and biblical and traditional Christian anthropological thought. The main theme is that the African heritage has something to offer the world of today. The African humanistic vision ozovehe enriched by the Christian notion of Imago Dei presents an alternative value system, an African Christian humanism. Islam in Contemporary Africa Afis Ayinde Oladosu, 2007. Features essays which are written by scholars, Christians and Muslims on their experience of Islam and the Muslims in the continent of Africa and how the phenomenon of terrorism and violence has impacted intra African harmony and cross cultural understanding in the world.

Rediscovering Our Identity as Africans Bekeh Ukelina Utietiang, 2000. Paperbound Books in Print, 1992. The Journal of Social, Political and Economic Studies, 1981. A Matter of Principles? Edwin R. DuBose, Ronald P. Hamel, Laurence J. O'Connell, 1994.

Bioethics today has become a subject of wide public concern. Almost every one of its tenets is being seriously questioned and likely to be reformulated. Moreover, the pressure on bioethics continues to mount as the number of moral conflicts that buffet our society increases. What then will bioethics look like a decade from now? In the variety of approaches that have been employed in the practice of bioethics, one has dominated in the United States in the last decade and a half. That approach is principlism, the use of moral principles to address theoretical issues and to resolve conflicts at the bedside. Recently, however, bioethicists and others increasingly have realized the limitations of principlism and are calling for the development of alternative approaches such as phenomenology, hermeneutics, narrative ethics, casuistry, and virtue ethics. This book maps the debate over principlism and the future direction of U.S. bioethics. Part One consists of a sociological description of U.S. bioethics at the beginning of the 1990s along with a defense of principlism by one of its major proponents. Part Two maps cross-cultural critiques of principlism while Part Three covers five alternatives to it. Three essays in Part Four by a bioethicist, a physician, and a theologian reflect on the future of U.S. bioethics, principlism, and its alternatives. The Afterword emphasizes the place of religion and theological discourse in the alternative approaches and in the future of bioethics. Beyond Africa's
