After the Last Sky Edward W. Said, Jean Mohr, 1993 Hardly a day passes without some mention of Palestinians in the press but they remain virtually unknown Portrayed as either murderous terrorists or pitiful refugees they have become prisoners of these images Paradoxical Citizenship Silvia Nagy-Zekmi, 2008-01-01 In a collection of intriguing essays on the work of Edward Said internationally recognized scholars pay homage to the late critic by addressing many aspects of his oeuvre including his breakthrough Orientalism the role of the intellectual the Question of Palestine and finally his dramatic memoir Out of Place This volume is a useful contribution for classroom use as well as recreational reading for those interested in the work of this controversial thinker Unsettling the World Jeanne Morefield, 2022-04-29 Unsettling the World is the first book length treatment of Edward Said's influential cultural criticism from the perspective of a political theorist Arguing that the generative power of Said's thought extends well beyond Orientalism the book explores Said's writings on the experience of exile the practice of contrapuntal criticism and the illuminating potential of worldly humanism Said's critical vision Morefield argues provides a fresh perspective on debates in political theory about subjectivity global justice identity and the history of political thought Most importantly she maintains Said's approach offers theorists a model of how to bring the insights developed through historical analyses of imperialism and anti colonialism to bear on critiques of contemporary global crises and the politics of American foreign policy After Said Bashir Abu-Manneh, 2018-12-13 By the time of his death in 2003 Edward Said was one of the most famous literary critics of the twentieth century Said's work has been hugely influential far beyond academia As a prominent advocate for the Palestinian cause and noted cultural critic Said redefined the role of the public intellectual This volume explores the problems and opportunities afforded by Said's work its productive and generative capacities as well as its in built limitations After Said captures the essence of Said's intellectual and political contribution and his extensive impact on postcolonial studies It examines his legacy by critically elaborating his core concepts and arguments Among the issues it tackles are humanism Orientalism culture and imperialism exile and the contrapuntal realism and postcolonial modernism world literature Islamophobia and capitalism and the political economy of empire It is an excellent resource for students graduates and instructors studying postcolonial literary theory and the works of Said The films of Costa-Gavras Homer B. Pettey, 2020-06-11 Costa Gavras is a seminal figure in French and international cinema A master of the political thriller he explores historical events through individual human stories thereby involving his audience in past and contemporary traumas from the horrors of the Holocaust through mid century international state terrorism and totalitarianism to the current global financial crisis With a career spanning half a century he remains one of cinema's most intriguing and enduring storytellers theorists and political commentators This collection of original essays charts and re examines Costa Gavras's career from Un homme de trop 1967 to Le capital 2012 Readable and carefully researched it will appeal to students and scholars of film as well as fans of the director's work After the Last Sky

Edward W. Said, 1993 Race, Violence, and Form: Reframing Nineteenth-Century Ireland Renée Fox, Mary L. Mullen, 2026-03-06 Irish literary studies has long subordinated the nineteenth century to the experimental triumphs of Irish modernism variously dismissing its achievements as too indebted to British forms to be truly Irish too transparently rooted in Irish history and politics to be globally or universally relevant and too aesthetically weak to be worth close formal analysis Race Violence and Form Reframing Nineteenth Century Ireland challenges these critical orthodoxies employing new methodological frameworks that expand how we understand the global racial formal periodized and political scope of nineteenth century Irish literature The essays in the collection move fluidly between history and form archive and imagination past and present and Ireland and elsewhere as they re examine the genres of nineteenth century Ireland coin new aesthetic categories and theorize Ireland's mobile place in world networks Focusing as much on how literary criticism has marginalized and delimited nineteenth century Irish literature as on the new more expansive literary and cultural histories that this literature catalyzes the collection argues that the project of re reading nineteenth century Ireland challenges accepted methodologies imperial hierarchies and narratives of exceptionalism whose reach extends far beyond Ireland itself Race Violence and Form thus not only offers exciting new directions for Irish studies scholarship but also models an approach to nineteenth century literary studies that de emphasizes insularity in favor of global collaborative and open ended imagining Imagining Palestine Tahrir Hamdi, 2022-11-17 Winner of the Counter Current Award at the 2023 Palestine Book Awards All national identities are somewhat fluid held together by collective beliefs and practices as much as official territory and borders In the context of the Palestinians whose national status in so many instances remains unresolved the articulation and imagination of national identity is particularly urgent This book explores the ways that Palestinian intellectuals artists activists and ordinary citizens imagine their homeland examining the works of key Palestinian and other thinkers and writers such as Edward Said Ghassan Kanafani Naji Al Ali Mahmoud Darwish Mourid Barghouti Radwa Ashour Suheir Hammad and Susan Abulhawa Deploying decolonial and resistance concepts such as Palestinian sumud Tahrir Hamdi argues that the imaginative construction of Palestine is a key element in the Palestinians ongoing struggle An interdisciplinary work drawing upon critical theory postcolonial and decolonial studies and literary analysis this book will be of interest to students and scholars of Palestine and Middle East studies and Arabic literature
