Aged Care Old Policies New Problems:

Aged Care Diane Gibson, 1998-01-28 The ageing of the population is a demographic phenomenon a social problem and a policy issue The increase in the numbers of aged and in the costs of supporting and caring for them have also brought increases in family care in deinstitutionalisation of aged care services and in issues of quality and outcomes of care and consumer rights The growing recognition of the feminisation of ageing also has significant social and policy consequences In this 1998 book Diane Gibson synthesises a wide range of material to provide an overview of these issues and policy responses worldwide The book then looks in depth at Australia a country typical in the problems it faces and a world leader in many of its solutions Gibson also offers a more conceptual examination of theoretical implications and practical consequences She elucidates debates in ways which will set new standards for aged care policy and practice worldwide The Age of Supported Independence Beatrice Hale, Patrick Barrett, Robin Gauld, 2010-04-06 This book investigates the experiences of older people who remain at home with care It examines the transition points for the important life changes faced by family members who take on a greater care giving role The book draws on demographic analyses and qualitative fieldwork to explore the shift from independence to increasing dependence and suggests that this transition constitutes movement into a new stage of life that of an Age of Supported Independence Applying the anthropological concept of rites of passage in their analysis the authors focus on the changes in everyday living within the spatial environment of the home the temporal organization of daily life and the reshaping of relationships They suggest that many older people as well as the family members who become carers remain in a state of liminality unable to make sense of their new situation and experience and despite assumptions that ageing in place sustains social connectedness excluded from their communities Handbook of Social Work in Health and Aging Barbara Berkman, 2006-02-09 The Handbook of Social Work in Health and Aging is the first reference to combine the fields of health care aging and social work in a single authoritative volume These areas are too often treated as discrete entities while the reality is that all social workers deal with issues in health and aging on a daily basis regardless of practice specialization As the baby boomers age the impact on practice in health and aging will be dramatic and social workers need more specialized knowledge about aging health care and the resources available to best serve older adults and their families The volume s 102 original chapters and 13 overviews written by the most experienced and prominent gerontological health care scholars in the United States and across the world provide social work practitioners and educators with up to date knowledge of evidence based practice guidelines for effectively assessing and treating older adults and their families new models for intervention in both community based practice and institutional care and knowledge of significant policy and research issues in health and aging A truly monumental resource this handbook represents the best research on health and aging available to social workers today Equity Choices and Long-Term Care Policies in Europe August Oesterle, 2017-07-05 This title was first published in 2001 Employing an interdisciplinary and comparative approach to equity in long term care this book addresses the fact that demographic changes leading to ageing populations financial pressures and changes in traditional support systems have brought long term care and the redesign of care systems to the top of the European social policy agenda Despite the importance of this issue however the question of equity in long term care has until now received relatively little attention in social policy research Rather than focusing on theories of social justice or the analysis of specific interpretations of equity this book develops key dimensions of equity choices in a framework for systematic comparative analysis This tool is then used to investigate long term care policies in Europe exploring equity choices in both the provision and the finance of long term care These choices are discussed comparatively with regard to the implications for the various actors and are also contrasted with basic welfare state objectives This book represents an important addition to comparative research into several key areas of welfare and welfare state design It explores the division of responsibilities in long term care systems between the public and private and formal and informal sectors the relationships between different welfare state objectives the different types of welfare state intervention and the principles and choices surrounding the allocation of resources and burdens

Population Ageing and Australia's Future Hal Kendig, Peter McDonald, John Piggott, 2016-10-21 This volume provides evidence from many of Australia's leading scholars from a range of social science disciplines to support policies that address challenges presented by Australia's ageing population It builds on presentations made to the 2014 Symposium of the Academy of the Social Sciences in Australia The material is in four parts Perspectives on Ageing Population Ageing Global regional and Australian perspectives Improving Health and Wellbeing Responses by Government and Families Individuals The Academy of the Social Sciences in Australia sees this volume as a major contribution to improving our understanding of Australia's population ageing Social science research in this area truly underpins our ability as a nation to manage such demographic change and its consequences for the economy and society Such knowledge helps ensure that our citizens can live even better lives Glenn Withers President ASSA It is fantastic that Australians are living longer and healthier lives but we need to address these demographic changes The Hon Joe Hockey MP 2015 Intergenerational Report

A Certain Age Susan Feldman, 2020-08-26 Older women run their own businesses Older women go to aerobics classes Older women fall in love In fact older women have active lives and make a major contribution to the community despite the the public assumption that they are past their use by date A Certain Age explores the public and private worlds of older women Challenging the emphasis on declining health in other studies of ageing it looks at the interactions between older women and family friends and the community as well as their work and leisure activities The authors discuss the factors that are important in older woman's lives such as home menopause fitness learning widowhood and intimacy They show that many older women maintain good health and an independent lifestyle while others experience barriers that prevent them from continuing to be active members of their community A Certain Age is valuable reading for anyone who works with older people develops programs or policies for older people or is interested in the experience of growing older Old Age in Australia Pat Jalland,2015-01-05 The Australian population is rapidly getting older demanding important policy and service decisions This groundbreaking book is the first to explore a 100 year history of older people in Australia from 1880 to 1980 Over that period the aged suffered as forgotten people until 1945 when there was the promise of a new deal for the elderly Major themes examined include family histories of aged care poverty social and medical policy gender the impact of wars and economic depression housing nursing homes and the retirement debates Old Age in Australia provides essential historical context for current discussions about the implications of ageing in Australia Aged Care Diane Gibson,1998-01-28 The aging of the population is a demographic phenomenon a social problem and a policy issue The numbers of aged and the cost of supporting and caring for them are increasing as is the feminization of aging Diane Gibson provides a broad overview of the issues and policy responses worldwide and an in depth study of Australia a country with typical problems and some world leading solutions She also offers a more conceptual look at theoretical implications and practical consequences This book will set new standards for aged care policy and practice worldwide Empowering Frail Elderly People Leonard F. Heumann,Mary McCall,Duncan P. Boldy,2001 Annotation A unique analysis of the obstacles to and possible solutions toward the empowerment of frail elderly persons Health, Social Change & Communities Pranee Liamputtong,Heather Gardner,2003 Governments while concentrating on policy development and the pursuit of strategic approaches have concurrently distanced themselves from the direct provision of services to become funders not providers Funding is provided to agencies whether from the public or private sector on the basis of the strength of their competitive tenders and the number of relevant organizations that they have included The effects that these and other changes in the political and economic sectors have had on Australian society at the beginning of the 21st century are the concern of the authors of Health Social Change and Communities Since communities are both the recipients and the participants in health and social policy the book is a sympathetic but critical analysis of some of those community groups and how they are faring in terms of health and social indicators All of the chapters focus on the four main areas An overview of current social cultural or epidemiological perspectives relevant to the community and their members health Problems or issues in Australian society as reflective of wider international concerns A discussion of relevant health policies and programs Measures that can be taken to improve the health of selected groups in the community Health Social Change and Communities is written for readers who either have an interest or who are engaged in working with members of communities With its presentation of diversity in communities the book provides insights to enlighten and influence thinking about health and social policy Social Problems and Social Policy James Ford,1923

The New Politics of State Health Policy Robert B. Hackey,David A. Rochefort,2001 State governments in the past decade have had to take on the problem of health care with mixed results This collection of 11 essays of which two are an introduction and conclusion by academics and policy makers consider the many issues that concern health care in the US and their effects at the state level including managed care health insurance expansion mental health care public health administration and bureaucratic reactions to health policy Hackey teaches health policy and management at Providence College in Rhode Island Rochefort teaches political science and public administration at Northeastern U in Boston c Book News Inc The Social Policy of Old Age Miriam Bernard, Judith Phillips, 1998 Public Policy and the Two States of Kansas H. George Frederickson, 1994 The authors survey general revenue and demographic issues and then analyze the five policy areas education corrections transportation welfare and health that consume 84.3% of the state budget and that in terms of both cost and controversy rank highest on the state's policy agenda Emerging from this analysis is the disturbing consensus that Kansas is an increasingly divided state one urban younger and wealthier the other rural older and poorer National Catholic Welfare Council Bulletin, 1927 Mental Health Problems in Old Age Brian Gearing, Malcolm L. Johnson, Malcolm Johnson, Tom Heller, 1988-05-23 This multi disciplinary and multi occupational work contains newly commissioned material and previously unpublished articles on mental health disorders that afflict the aged Written to promote an awareness of the nature of mental health disorders found in older people it also discusses the pros and cons of current community health policies The National Underwriter, 1923 Life Association News, 1928 Reports International Typographical Union, 1909 The Spectator, 1923
