Care Of The Dying:

Care of the Dying Patient David A. Fleming, John C. Hagan, 2010-04-15 Although the need for improved care for dying patients is widely recognized and frequently discussed few books address the needs of the physicians nurses social workers therapists hospice team members and pastoral counselors involved in care Care of the Dying Patient contains material not found in other sources offering advice and solutions to anyone professional caregiver or family member confronted with incurable illness and death Its authors have lectured and published extensively on care of the dying patient and here review a wide range of topics to show that relief of physical suffering is not the only concern in providing care This collection encompasses diverse aspects of end of life care across multiple disciplines offering a broad perspective on such central issues as control of pain and other symptoms spirituality the needs of caregivers and special concerns regarding the elderly In its pages readers will find out how to effectively utilize palliative care services and activate timely referral to hospice arrange for care that takes into account patients cultural beliefs and respond to spiritual and psychological distress including the loss of hope that often overshadows physical suffering The authors especially emphasize palliative care and hospice since some physicians fear that such referrals may be viewed by patients and families as abandonment They also address ethical and legal risks in pain management and warn that fear of overprescribing pain medication may inadvertently lead to ineffective pain relief and even place the treating team at risk of liability for undertreatment of pain While physicians have the ability to treat disease they also help to determine the time and place of death and they must recognize that end of life choices are made more complex than ever before by advances in medicine and at the same time increasingly important Care of the Dying Patient addresses some of the challenges frequently confronted in terminal care and points the way toward a more compassionate way of death

Compassionate Person-Centered Care for the Dying Bonnie Freeman, 2015-02-23 This groundbreaking reference for palliative care nurses is the first to provide realistic and achievable evidence based methods for incorporating compassionate and humanistic care of the dying into current standards of practice It builds on the author's research based CARES Tool a reference that synthesizes five key elements demonstrated to enable a peaceful death as free from suffering as possible Comfort Airway Management Management of Restlessness and Delirium Emotional and Spiritual Support and Self Care for Nurses The book describes step by step how nurses can easily implement the basic tenets of the CARES Tool into their end of life practice It provides a clearly defined plan that can be individualized for each patient and tailored to specific family needs and facilitates caring for the dying in the most respectful and humane way possible

Living with Dying Dame Cicely M. Saunders, Mary Baines, Robert J. Dunlop, 1995 The new edition of this successful book has been up dated to incorporate recent advances in both approach to and treatment of the terminally ill Based on many years of monitoring clinical practice and research at St Christopher's Hospice Dame Cicely Saunders presents practical balanced advice on the general ethical and medical principles of caring for dying patients This will continue to be an invaluable handbook for all hospice physicians and nurses as a compassionate source of factual information Nursing Care at the End of Life Joyce V Zerwekh, 2005-12-28 Nursing Care at the End of Life Palliative Care for Patients and Families explores the deep issues of caring for the dying and suffering The book is based on the Hospice Family Caregiving Model previously published by the author and focuses on the practice implications of care for the dying The book is written in a clear and user friendly style and is ideal for undergraduate nursing students learning about dying suffering and caring for individuals and their families

Care of the Dying John Ellershaw, Susie Wilkinson, 2011 This title provides professionals who care for the dying with a user friendly guide on how to render the best possible treatment

Reichel's Care of the Elderly Christine Arenson, Jan Busby-Whitehead, Kenneth Brummel-Smith, James G. O'Brien, Mary H. Palmer, William Reichel, 2009-02-09 The sixth edition remains the pioneering text for the practising physician confronted with the unique problems of an increasingly elderly population Dr William Reichel's formative text is designed as a practical and useful guide for health specialists from medical students to practicing physicians This book is not a collection of subspecialty chapters but rather emphasizes the clinical management of the geriatric patient with simple to complex problems The editors have reviewed every chapter and have included the most up to date advances in the care of the elderly New chapters include hormonal therapy in post menopausal women drug therapy for Alzheimer's sufferers alternative medicine the chronic understaffing of nursing homes management of delirium and ethical issues Comprehensive and written for any clinicians caring for older patients including family physicians general internists nurse practitioners geriatricians and other specialists this esteemed text provides practical and trusted advice

Compassionate Person-centered Care for the Dying, 2015

The Dying Process Julia Lawton, 2002-01-04 Taking as its focus a highly emotive area of study The Dying Process draws on the experiences of daycare and hospice patients to provide a forceful new analysis of the period of decline prior to death Placing the bodily realities of dying very firmly centre stage and questioning the ideology central to the modern hospice movement of enabling patients to live until they die Julia Lawton shows how our concept of a good death is open to interpretation Her study examines the non negotiable effects of a patient's bodily deterioration on their sense of self and in so doing offers a powerful new perspective in embodiment and emotion in death and dying A detailed and subtle ethnographic study The Dying Process engages with a range of deeply complex and ethically contentious issues surrounding the care of dying patients in hospices and elsewhere

Dying, Death, and Bereavement Inge B. Corless, 2006-06-02 Based on practice knowledge of the authors rather than on research this book may be particularly useful for those professionals who have not had hands on experience with people at the last stages of dying It is a resource that can be referred to time and again by those who care for people facing the final stage of life

Approaching Death Institute of Medicine, Committee on Care at the End of Life, 1997-10-16 When the end of life makes its inevitable appearance people should be able to expect reliable humane and effective caregiving Yet too many dying people suffer unnecessarily While an overtreated dying is feared untreated pain or emotional abandonment are equally frightening Approaching Death reflects a wide ranging effort to understand what we know about care at the end of life what we have yet to learn and what we know but do not adequately apply It seeks to build understanding of what constitutes good care for the dying and offers recommendations to decisionmakers that address specific barriers to achieving good care This volume offers a profile of when where and how Americans die It examines the dimensions of caring at the end of life Determining diagnosis and prognosis and communicating these to patient and family Establishing clinical and personal goals Matching physical psychological spiritual and practical care strategies to the patient s values and circumstances Approaching Death considers the dying experience in hospitals nursing homes and other settings and the role of interdisciplinary teams and managed care It offers perspectives on quality measurement and improvement the role of practice guidelines cost concerns and legal issues such as assisted suicide The book proposes how health professionals can become better prepared to care well for those who are dying and to understand that these are not patients for whom nothing can be done Palliative Care Harold Y. Vanderpool,2015-07-11 The long history of medical care for the dying has largely been neglected It began in 1605 when physicians were challenged to enable persons to die peacefully Today it includes palliation of oppressive symptoms emotional and psychological care and respect for the wishes and cultural backgrounds of patients and families Especially since the 1990s it embraces symptom easing palliation for patients with severe life limiting and chronic illnesses Providing a detailed picture of contemporary palliative care this book chronicles four centuries of the quest for a good death covering the fight against futile end of life treatments the history of life extending treatments and technologies the roles of nurses the liberation of the dying from isolation in hospitals and hard won victories to secure patients right to choose Care of the Difficult Patient Peter Manos,Joan Braun,2007-04-11 Developed collaboratively by a doctor and nurse team this is the first text to deal specifically with nursing difficult patients Whether patient problems stem from mental distress and ill health historic substance abuse demanding family members or abusive behaviour difficult patients place extra demands on nurses both professionally and personally Caring for difficult patients requires both technical and interpersonal skills along with an ability to exercise power and set limits This text presents invaluable practical recommendations and advice well founded in experience and supported by relevant literature for nurses coping with challenging real world situations Including learning points further reading case studies and dialogue examples to highlight good and bad practice the book covers pertinent issues such as psychiatric diagnoses setting limits and establishing authority death and dying stress and work It is ideal for pre and post registration nurses providing concrete direction on the management of difficult patients The A B C of Foster-family Care for Children ...
