

National Teacher of the Year

Council of Chief State School Officers (CCSSO)

Background

The National Teacher of the Year Program has been run by the Council of Chief State School Officers since 1952.

Every state may nominate a candidate for National Teacher of the Year. The National Teacher is released from classroom duties during the year of recognition to serve as a spokesperson and advocate for the entire teaching profession. The National Teacher of the Year maintains a full schedule of speaking engagements throughout the country, and increasingly the world, before a variety of education, community, and business groups.
