and environmental governance Publishing Agency United Nations Environment Programme UNEP The State of the Marine Environment ,2006 Environmental Security in Latin America Gavin O'Toole,2017-05-18 This book examines security in Latin America through an environmental lens at a time when this region faces a broad and growing spectrum of threats The book considers the backdrop against which security debates about Latin America have been conducted the extent to which scholarship has been dominated by traditional US strategic concerns and how in the changing context at the end of the Cold War some policymakers within Latin America itself at both national and regional levels began to reposition security It argues that traditional security scholarship focusing on military defence and strategic affairs in this region is hard to explain and out of date and offers reasons why a new focus on environmental threats within a broader human security perspective has much to offer this field Such a focus is justified by the scale of the challenges that environmental degradation is posing in Latin America and the very real impact of climate change there The book considers how the various theoretical possibilities of the term environmental security all have some potential application to this region where the natural environment is rapidly being securitized by military forces on behalf of their states Finally it proposes that a fruitful approach to Latin America might be one where human and environmental security have parity This book will be of interest to students of environmental security Latin American security human geography and IR in general Global Environment Outlook United Nations Publications,2017-04-03 This regional Global Environment Outlook GEO report the fourth for Latin America and the Caribbean with the previous GEO regional assessment for LAC published in 2010 places emphasis on identifying some of the most worrying and persistent threats to the region through an environmental lens but also on the achievements success stories and opportunities in the region The Law and Politics of Sustainability Klaus Bosselmann,Daniel S.
