Caring For Someone Who Is Dying:

Oxford Textbook of Public Health Palliative Care Julian Abel, Allan Kellehear, 2022 Death dying loss and care giving are not just medical issues but societal ones This volume explores the adoption of public health principles to palliative care including harm reduction early intervention health and well being promotion and compassionate communities Caring for Someone who is Dying Penny Mares, 1998 Designed to help the carer through some of the difficulties they may face in the days ahead this offers positive and constructive advice and ideas and information on the practical side of caring End of Life in Care Homes Jeanne Samson Katz, Sheila M. Peace, 2003-04-03 In our society the overwhelming majority of people die in later life They typically die slowly of chronic diseases with multiple co existing problems over long periods of time They spend the majority of their final years at home but many will die in hospitals or care homes This book explores the possibilities for improving the care of older people dying in residential care and nursing homes It argues that there are aspects of palliative care that given the right circumstances are transferable to dying people in settings that are not domestic or hospice based End of Life in Care Homes describes what happens in nursing and residential care homes when a resident is dying how carers cope and the practical health and emotional challenges that carers face on top of their day to day work Based on detailed research from both the UK and US the book shows how the situation can be improved The Dying Patient E. Wilkes, 2012-12-06 The main purpose of this book is to bring together some description of the skills and attitudes of those working in the hospice units specializing in terminal care with those rather different but overlapping skills used daily in the palliation of chronic or incurable disease This varied collection of papers does not pretend to be exhaustive Among the omissions for example are two major causes of death chronic respiratory disease and stroke This is because the treatment of the end state of these conditions and they are not alone in this lies more in the gentle withdrawal of measures no longer appropriate rather than in any positive regime within the gift of the physician This may lead on occasion to an unjustifiable diminution of interest but this is less likely in cases of cardiac or malignant disease Ischaemic heart disease remains the main killer of the western world We may see important changes in our approach over the next decade as we document slowly and painstakingly the comparative ineffectiveness of our therapy but in cases of progressive cardiac disease no matter how we may argue as to management or prevention we are agreed that we must lighten the dreary burden of illness as effectively as possible The Land is Dying Wenzel Geissler, Ruth Jane Prince, 2010 This series in medical anthropology publishes monographs and edited volumes on indigenous so called traditional medical knowledge and practice alternative and complementary medicine and ethnobiological studies that relate to health and illness The emphasis of the series is on the way indigenous epistemologies inform healing against a background of comparison with other practices and in recognition of the fluidity between them End-of-life Ethics and the Nursing Assistant Eileen R. Chichin, 2000 This book describes a research based project that was developed to assess Certified Nursing Assistants CNAs knowledge and attitudes about ethical issues and end of life decision making and to provide educational intervention and support Based on the project s findings a workbook was designed to enable nursing homes to conduct an ethics education program for their CNAs

Dilemmas of Life and Death S. Cromwell Crawford,1995-01-01 This is a breakthrough work expanding the debate of the dilemmas of life and death in contemporary American society by carrying it beyond the insights of Western religious and philosophic thought to include ethical perspectives of the Hindu tradition The topics covered are the timely ethical issues that concern both Americans and all people of the world abortion suicide euthanasia and the environment A lively East West dialogue probes the roots of each issue in its native setting and the fruit of this historical approach is a clear cut analysis of up to date cases giving their current status in terms of ethics religion philosophy medicine and law Unlike traditional textbooks that concentrate on a theoretical analysis to the exclusion of practical issues this book does justice to both theoretical and practical ethics
