communication Who Cares?! William Hart,2021-03-05 The hyphen between the date you were born and the day you die represents the length and breadth of your life We are all assigned a certain number of days upon this planet What will you do with those days What will you give in exchange for this day We all leave footprints of our presence and influence At the end of it all will anyone really know or care that you have passed through this life All of us have been created for relationships We need each other in some way or other We need to be loved and to be able to extend love That is what this book is about Real people traverse the pages you are about to unfold They have made choices every day to either coast through life leaving a lot of relational rubbish behind or make a positive difference to another person There is a price for loving another Within these pages you will discover that price The walking wounded crowd our world today Those who have experienced the early shortfalls of toxic parenting Those who have discovered they must always be wary and defensive in the face of a perceived and hostile world Those who are ill equipped to meet the demands of living in an impersonal world Love is a choice We each have within ourselves the longing to be loved and cared about by at least one other person Love is reciprocal When we give love we mostly receive love Love is not manipulative or deceitful The pure essence of unconditional love penetrates to the depth of our very souls It s not about perfect people for it is the wounded abused and damaged who rise above the legacy they have been handed to embrace another human being The author has experienced love in the fullest even in the midst of loss travail and tragedy Loving another is risky not for the faint of heart Unless we extend that love and embrace it s benefits we mangle that hyphen between the beginning and the end Your life will be made richer and enlightened by the authors revealing experiences of those who have reaped the rewards of caring for another human being It is written for two categories of people those who are loved and those who longingly desire to be loved The Philosophy of Care Luigina Mortari,2022-02-24 Care is the most important thing for life since to model life we need to care for ourselves for the others and for the human institutions Care is the most important ontological phenomenon because we are what we care for It is essential to care for life in order to maintain it along time to make it flourish and to repair the wounds of being there This book develops a philosophy of care not only by considering the contemporary literature but above all by basing the argumentations on the ancient Greek philosophy Moreover the argumentations are grounded in a phenomenological analysis of the experience of care The Human Body and Its Care Solomon Weir Newmayer,Edwin Cornelius Broome,1928
