Cuba: Continuing Crisis Patricia Baum, 1971 A summary of four hundred years of turbulent Cuban history and an analysis of the modern day crisis precipitated by Castro's government Cuba Patricia Baum, 1971 Cuba Max J. Castro, 1995 The Cuban Revolution in the 21st Century George Lambie, 2010-10-05 Politics in Cuba have long been analysed as a socialist experiment from the perspective of internal dynamics or international relations but what if the revolutionary process is part of a counter current against neoliberal globalisation Rather than presenting Cuba as a socialist survivor whose performance must be measured against the standards set by the international community George Lambie judges Cuban socialism on the goals that the revolution sets for itself He shows that despite Cuba's isolation in the New World Order and the enormous pressures it has faced to conform its faith in an alternative socialist project has continued and grown After the 2008 financial crash we have seen neoliberalism's fallibility first hand conversely Cuba's promotion of socialist values has a renewed relevance Lambie argues that Cuba is again becoming a symbol and practical example of socialism in action

Three Crises in American Foreign Affairs and a Continuing Revolution Howard Trivers, 1972 A distinguished former Foreign Service Officer looks at four key issues in recent American foreign policy offers personal insights and adds new never before made public information to the record The issues are the Berlin Wall the Cuba Missile Crisis the Vietnam War and the impact of science on foreign policy On the Berlin Wall I am convinced that one of the many factors which made possible or led to the U S Soviet confrontation in the Cuba missile crisis was the weak reaction of the U S government at the time of the Berlin Wall Khrushchev misread the weak reaction to mean an endemic weakness On the Cuba Missile Crisis In the Cuba missile crisis both the American and the Soviet estimators were wrong the Americans were wrong in their estimate of the likelihood of the Soviets introducing offensive missiles into Cuba the Soviets were wrong in their estimate of the likely American response to such action On the Vietnam War American political and military leaders seem to have been caught in a web of abstractions spun by themselves The folly of Vietnam has been the most complete triumph of specious abstraction in the history of our foreign affairs The continuing revolution Dr Trivers sees is in the future The following is an excerpt from this chapter On

Science Technology and Foreign Affairs The only chance for human survival lies in the development of international institutions strong and resilient enough to direct and control the import of technological development in the interest of all mankind The United Nations is a weak reed in this direction with a charter based on anachronistic premises
