

2ND EDITION

An abstract sculpture composed of several intertwined, golden, translucent ribbons. The ribbons are arranged in a complex, overlapping pattern, creating a sense of movement and depth. The lighting is soft and directional, casting long, dark shadows on the surface below the sculpture. The background is a neutral, light brown color.

Art Practice As Research Inquiry In The Visual Arts:

Art Practice as Research Graeme Sullivan, 2010 Art Practice as Research Second Edition continues to present a compelling argument that the creative and cultural inquiry undertaken by artists is a form of research The text explores themes practices and contexts of artistic inquiry and positions them within the discourse of research Sullivan argues that legitimate research goals can be achieved by choosing different methods than those offered by the social sciences The common denominator in both approaches is the attention given to rigor and systematic inquiry Artists emphasize the role of the imaginative intellect in creating criticizing and constructing knowledge that is not only new but also has the capacity to transform human understanding

Art Practice as Research Graeme Sullivan, 2005 This book will publish in a new edition on December 1 2009 We are no longer supplying instructors with complimentary review copies of this edition If you need an urgent desk copy of the existing edition for a class this semester please call 1 800 818 7243 and we will be pleased to process your request In this rich and layered reflection on visual arts practice as research Graeme Sullivan launches a passionate and convincing case that rewrites the definitions of art and research as it unapologetically claims for the visual arts the respect and admiration of the academy

Jessica Hoffman Davis Harvard University Art Practice as Research Inquiry in the Visual Arts presents a compelling argument that the creative and cultural inquiry undertaken by artists is a form of research The text explores themes practices and contexts of artistic inquiry and positions them within the discourse of research Author Graeme Sullivan argues that legitimate research goals can be achieved by choosing different methods than those offered by the social sciences The common denominator in both approaches is the attention given to rigor and systematic inquiry Artists emphasize the role of the imaginative intellect in creating criticizing and constructing knowledge that is not only new but also has the capacity to transform human understanding The book is divided into three content areas that provide a unique framework for carrying out inquiry in the visual arts

Contexts for Visual Arts Research is a historical review that positions the visual arts as a culturally grounded and institutionally bound area of artistic and educational inquiry Theorizing Visual Arts Practice presents the thesis that visual arts practice is a theoretically robust area of inquiry and a transformative approach to creating and critiquing knowledge Visual Arts Research Practices describes a range of strategies and approaches to planning and carrying out visual arts research is a historical review that positions the visual arts as a culturally grounded and institutionally bound area of artistic and educational inquiry Art Practice as Research is perfectly suited as a text for courses in art education the visual arts as well as general research methods courses in education and the humanities This will also be an invaluable reference for anyone with an interest in interdisciplinary research in the social sciences and the role of imaginative inquiry in human understanding

A blog by Graeme Sullivan welcoming contributors interested in discussing ideas and sharing information about art as a form of research Praise for this text Sullivan challenges our assumptions about what constitutes research practices and in doing so presents a ground breaking analysis for visual arts practice as research

This compelling image text book opens the possibilities for the construction of new forms of knowledge in our increasingly visual world Dipti Desai New York University Sullivan provides a timely and excellent introduction to the emerging field of visual cognition and educational research Pradeep A Dhillon University of Illinois Art Practice as Research is long overdue Graeme Sullivan eloquently crafts a methodology text and articulates for contemporary visual artist researchers how arts practices are in fact rich forms of research inquiry Rita L Irwin University of British Columbia Canada Sullivan s text is an important addition to the literature associated with research critical inquiry and arts education I wish that such a text would have been available at the time that I was working on my dissertation I will recommend it to my graduate students and colleagues Doug Blandy University of Oregon Art Practice moves through a description of accepted methods of research in the sciences A person interested in art research would be well served by the foundation Sullivan provides

COMMUNICATION RESEARCH TRENDS

Art Practice in a Digital Culture Hazel Gardiner, Charlie Gere, 2016-04-15 Much as art history is in the process of being transformed by new information communication technologies often in ways that are either disavowed or resisted art practice is also being changed by those same technologies One of the most obvious symptoms of this change is the increasing numbers of artists working in universities and having their work facilitated and supported by the funding and infrastructural resources that such institutions offer This new paradigm of art as research is likely to have a profound effect on how we understand the role of the artist and of art practice in society In this unique book artists art historians art theorists and curators of new media reflect on the idea of art as research and how it has changed practice Intrinsic to the volume is an investigation of the advances in creative practice made possible via artists engaging directly with technology or via collaborative partnerships between practitioners and technological experts ranging through a broad spectrum of advanced methods from robotics through rapid prototyping to the biological sciences

Engaging the Senses: Object-Based Learning in Higher Education Helen J. Chatterjee, Leonie Hannan, 2016-03-09 The use of museum collections as a path to learning for university students is fast becoming a new pedagogy for higher education Despite a strong tradition of using lectures as a way of delivering the curriculum the positive benefits of active and experiential learning are being recognised in universities at both a strategic level and in daily teaching practice As museum artefacts specimens and art works are used to evoke provoke and challenge students engagement with their subject so transformational learning can take place This unique book presents the first comprehensive exploration of object based learning as a pedagogy for higher education in a broad context An international group of authors offer a spectrum of approaches at work in higher education today They explore contemporary principles and practice of object based learning in higher education demonstrating the value of using collections in this context and considering the relationship between academic discipline and object based learning as a teaching strategy

An Epistemology of Belongingness Hope O'Chin, 2024-02-23 The intent of this book focuses on Australia s First Nations truth voice recognition diversity and respect Hope O Chin explains that knowledge about Australian First Nations culture and learning can be seen through new conceptual lens which she refers to as an Ontology of Dreaming Hope for Australians The book proposes to move from ontological propositions embedded in pedagogies and methodologies that center on the relevance of Indigenous epistemes and ways of doing O Chin offers a conceptual framing for engaging with Indigenous peoples and forming communities of belongingness and relationality She offers suggestions for ways in which art and education can act as healing and a way forward towards a more inclusive civil society Reflexive practice ethnographic principles and action research is described in a way that methodologies provide an understanding of a sense of Belonging O Chin argues that theoretical research art and educational practice can add to the value of determining a strategy of Indigenous art investment within Australia and to address how art and education can be used to validate contemporary expression of Aboriginality within contemporary Australian society Ultimately the book is about Indigenous strengths and what Indigenous ways of being knowing and doing can offer and how one might go about honouring and working in this way respectfully
