Ensuring Quality Education and Good Learning Environments for Students Ana B Bernardo, Adrián Castro-López, Javier Puente, 2021-11-19 Today new technologies bring with them an everchanging panorama forcing us to constantly update our knowledge For this reason quality education is necessary in all areas of knowledge and at all educational levels The quality of our educational systems and the questions raised by reviewing whether our educational institutions offer quality education or not are some of the main reasons why quality education is a topic that in recent years has captured the interest of governments researchers and lecturers among others This issue brings together different socioeducational actors with their concerns for and commitments to higher education in order to achieve the aim of providing people with the competencies necessary to adapt to a changing and competitive world in which the individual needs to engage in lifelong learning and where education must align with sustainable development goals such as democracy justice and equality All of this provides us with a scenario for reflecting on and researching fundamental questions such as how to prevent school absenteeism how to deal with students leaving school early how to prevent or alleviate the phenomenon of dropping out in higher education etc In other words can we assume that student failure is partly due to the failure of our educational systems Are we educating self regulated critical learning motivated and competent students These and other questions lead us to search for measures with which we can improve the quality of our educational systems by proposing strategies and developing tools to enhance the lecturing learning processes in our classrooms Leveraging Quality Improvement to Achieve Student Learning Assessment Success in Higher Education Nancy Gentry Glenn,2008 eLearning for Quality Teaching in Higher Education Nan Yang,2020-04-20 This book explores the impact of eLearning on the quality of teaching in higher education focusing on three main issues university teachers perception of quality teaching their strategies for achieving quality teaching in practice and interventions that design and implement online collaborative activities in a large class The book argues that if eLearning targets the real problems in practice and is appropriately designed and implemented it can improve the teaching quality at universities It also demonstrates the complexity of teachers perception of quality teaching and contextual factors that affect teaching practice and quality Further it explores university teachers perception of quality teaching in Italy the UK and China an aspect that is rarely addressed in the literature and reveals why the impact of ICTs on university teaching is not as great as in other fields by explaining the issues that threaten the quality of day to day teaching Lastly it confirms that traditional lecturing combined with online collaborative activities improves the quality of teaching compared to traditional lecturing alone As such this book is a necessary and important resource for the research community Quality in Higher Education Ming Cheng,2016-09-27 Many countries now employ national evaluation systems to demonstrate publicly that universities provide a quality education However the current processes of quality evaluation are often detached from the practices of teaching and learning In particular those who teach and those who learn still have to be won over to such audit processes This book argues that it is time for the higher education sector to concern itself with the human dimension so as to develop both academic professionalism and students commitment to their learning Based on five completed research projects which explore academics and students experiences and their views of quality evaluation the book argues that developing the intrinsic values of teaching and learning held by academics and students is key to achieving high quality education In this book the author critically reviews the four most frequently used terms related to current quality evaluation fitness for purpose value for money student satisfaction and students as customers and argues for a motivationally intelligent quality approach emphasising the moral dimension and the intrinsic values of academics and students The author also outlines an improved quality evaluation system that encourages and increases academics and students commitment to teaching and learning Presage Process Product      Ensuring Quality Education and Good Learning Environments for Students Ana B. Bernardo,2023 The ever growing information and communications within society require us to continuously update our knowledge For this reason higher education must provide students and lecturers with the opportunity to implement new learning approaches in the classroom In this sense teaching is adapting to a fast changing world and achieving a high quality standard for our educational systems will ensure that the education standard appropriately adapts to both the current times and to new teaching learning processes This topic captures the attention of different socio educational actors in order to achieve an education style that develops individuals and provides them with the necessary strategies to assist their learning throughout their lifetime      EBOOK: Improving Teaching and Learning in Higher Education: A Whole Institution Approach Vaneeta D'Andrea,David Gosling,2005-08-16 What are the aims of higher education What are the strategies necessary for institutional improvement How might the student experience be improved The emergence of the discourse around learning and teaching is one of the more remarkable phenomena of the last decade in higher education Increasingly universities are being required to pay greater attention to improving teaching and enhancing student learning This book will help universities and colleges achieve these goals through an approach to institutional change that is well founded on both research and practical experience By placing learning at the centre of organizational change this book challenges many of the current assumptions about management of teaching supporting students the separation of research and teaching the use of information technology and quality systems It demonstrates how trust can be restored within higher education while advancing the need for change based on principles of equity and academic values for students and teachers alike Improving Teaching and Learning in Higher Education is key reading for anyone interested in the development of teaching and learning in higher education as well as policy makers      Toward Quality Assurance and Excellence in Higher Education Ahmed Odeh Al Jaber,2022-09-01 Quality Assurance is not a new concept in the education sector in general and higher education in particular though it is becoming increasingly more relevant and important Higher education helps to improve an individual s quality of life by enabling them to inflate their knowledge and expertise to grasp abstract concepts and theories and to raise their awareness of the world and their community and as such the assurance of quality is becoming more pivotal in the whole education process There is no simple definition of the concept of quality in education though numerous models and theories have been devised Toward Quality Assurance and Excellence of Higher Education is a new episode of the Quality Assurance perception in higher education which identifies the quality culture and orientation from the beginning integrating crucial factors to build a pyramid of higher education excellence The book compares concepts from the main theories of Quality Assurance management and control when they are applied to educational systems in higher education The book also presents a new model of excellence in higher education Excellence is an architecture of building blocks that comes with process performance effectiveness harmony and collaboration which should be incorporated in a quality oriented concept of a sustainable excellence of higher education The model integrates four main facets the Educational System Quality Assurance Managing and Control Strategic Planning and Globalization Also presented are international best practices in quality assurance in higher education from Japan and Finland

Assessing for Learning Peggy L. Maki, 2023-07-03 While there is consensus that institutions need to represent their educational effectiveness through documentation of student learning the higher education community is divided between those who support national standardized tests to compare institutions educational effectiveness and those who believe that valid assessment of student achievement is based on assessing the work that students produce along and at the end of their educational journeys This book espouses the latter philosophy what Peggy Maki sees as an integrated and authentic approach to providing evidence of student learning based on the work that students produce along the chronology of their learning She believes that assessment needs to be humanized as opposed to standardized to take into account the demographics of institutions as students do not all start at the same place in their learning Students also need the tools to assess their own progress In addition to updating and expanding the contents of her first edition to reflect changes in assessment practices and developments over the last seven years such as the development of technology enabled assessment methods and the national need for institutions to demonstrate that they are using results to improve student learning Maki focuses on ways to deepen program and institution level assessment within the context of collective inquiry about student learning Recognizing that assessment is not initially a linear start up process or even necessarily sequential and recognizing that institutions develop processes appropriate for their mission and culture this book does not take a prescriptive or formulaic approach to building this commitment What it does present is a framework with examples of processes and strategies to assist faculty staff administrators and campus leaders to develop a sustainable and shared core institutional process that deepens inquiry into what and how students learn to identify and improve patterns of weakness that inhibit learning This book is designed to assist colleges and universities build a sustainable commitment to assessing student learning at both the institution and program levels It provides the tools for collective inquiry among faculty staff administrators and students to develop evidence of students abilities to integrate apply and transfer learning as well as to construct their own meaning Each chapter also concludes with 1 an Additional Resources section that includes references to meta sites with further resources so users can pursue particular issues in greater depth and detail and 2 worksheets guides and exercises designed to build collaborative ownership of assessment The second edition now covers Strategies to connect students to an institution s or a program s assessment commitment Description of the components of a comprehensive institutional commitment that engages the institution educators and students all as learners Expanded coverage of direct and indirect assessment methods including technology enabled methods that engage students in the process New case studies and campus examples covering undergraduate graduate education and the co curriculum New chapter with case studies that presents a framework for a backward designed problem based assessment process anchored in answering open ended research or study questions that lead to improving pedagogy and educational practices Integration of developments across professional scholarly and accrediting bodies and disciplinary organizations Descriptions and illustrations of assessment management systems Additional examples exercises guides and worksheets that align with new content
