Of Moons:

A Year of Moons Joseph Bruchac, 2022-09-13 There's a fresh coating of snow on the ground outside our cabin as I look to see who's coming to the fourteen feeders we keep filled with black oil sunflower seeds year round So begins A Year of Moons Stories from the Adirondack Foothills a collection of essays by award winning author Joseph Bruchac The collection is a reflection on the rhythms of the land the lunar cycles of the year the plants and animals that surround us and the connections that link humans animals and the land With one foot rooted firmly in the inheritance of nature essays and another rooted firmly in Bruchac's Abenaki heritage the collection is an artifact of a beautiful landscape and the changes it encounters throughout the year In his thoughtful and perceptive way Bruchac contemplates the changing of the seasons his relationship with the creatures and plant life that share his home and a vision of stewardship Bruchac's curiosity and reverence for the earth shines through on every page as he looks at the place he calls home with new eyes reflected by the changing of each season's moon

Book of Moons Rosemary Edghill, 2014-08-12 Rosemary Edghill's Bastak Karen Hightower is a modern day witch and amateur detective whose investigations lead her through the colorful and exotic world of New York's occult underground In Book of Moons a series of puzzling thefts serves as a prelude to a shocking murder whose origins lurk centuries in the past Every witch has a Book of Shadows part recipe book part liturgy and part diary Now someone is looking for one very odd very special Book and is willing to kill for it Bast has few suspects and fewer clues but where there's a witch there's a way Edghill portrays this New York subculture with humor and panache and provides a unique if sometimes cynical perspective Recommended Library Journal At the Publisher's request this title is being sold without Digital Rights Management Software DRM applied

Ontology and the Ambitions of Metaphysics Thomas Hofweber, 2016-08-11 Many significant problems in metaphysics are tied to ontological questions but ontology and its relation to larger questions in metaphysics give rise to a series of puzzles that suggest that we don't fully understand what ontology is supposed to do nor what ambitions metaphysics can have for finding out about what reality is like Thomas Hofweber aims to solve these puzzles about ontology and consequently to make progress on four central metaphysical problems the philosophy of arithmetic the metaphysics of ordinary objects the problem of universals and the question of whether the reality is independent of us Crucial parts of the proposed solution involve considerations about quantification and its relationship to ontology the place of reference in natural languages the possibility of ineffable facts the extent of empirical evidence in metaphysics and whether metaphysics can be properly esoteric Overall Hofweber defends a rationalist account of arithmetic an empiricist picture in the philosophy of ordinary objects a restricted form of nominalism and realism about reality understood as all there is but idealism about reality understood as all that is the case He defends metaphysics as having some questions of fact that are distinctly its own with a limited form of autonomy from other parts of inquiry but rejects several metaphysical projects and approaches as being based on a mistake
