The Accelerated Schools Resource Guide Wendy S. Hopfenberg, 1993-10-29 The Resource Guide has been created to serve as a sourcebook on the accelerated school it provides background and supportive information that can be used in conjunction with training to launch and sustain an accelerated school Introduction 2 Resources in Education, 1994

Improvement by Design David K. Cohen, Donald J. Peurach, Joshua L. Glazer, Karen E. Gates, Simona Goldin, 2013-12-06 One of the great challenges now facing education reformers in the United States is how to devise a consistent and intelligent framework for instruction that will work across the nation's notoriously fragmented and politically conflicted school systems Various programs have tried to do that but only a few have succeeded Improvement by Design looks at three different programs seeking to understand why two of them America's Choice and Success for All worked and why the third Accelerated Schools Project did not The authors identify four critical puzzles that the successful programs were able to solve design implementation improvement and sustainability Pinpointing the specific solutions that clearly improved instruction they identify the key elements that all successful reform programs share Offering urgently needed guidance for state and local school systems as they attempt to respond to future reform proposals Improvement by Design gets America one step closer to truly successful education systems Mobilizing Resources for District-wide Middle-grades Reform Holly Hatch, Kathryn Ann Hytten, 1997

Co-Constructing a Contextually Responsive Evaluation Framework: The Talent Development Model of Reform Veronica G. Thomas, Floraline I. Stevens, 2004-05-05 This volume presents the Talent Development evaluation framework an approach for evaluating urban school reform interventions deeply embedded in the work of the Howard University Center for Research on the Education of Students Placed At Risk CRESPAR and the Talent Development Model of School Reform The CRESPAR Talent Development TD evaluation approach is rooted in several traditions of evaluation that intentionally seek engagement with contexts of practice These traditions include responsive participatory empowerment and culturally competent approaches to evaluation The CRESPAR TD evaluation approach also takes up themes of inclusiveness and partnership advanced by the recent promotion of multiple methods in evaluation With these themes the TD evaluation approach is viably grounded in well accepted evaluation concepts and principles The approach further seeks to be practical useful formative and empowering for the many individuals served by TD evaluations and to give voice to persons whose perspectives are often ignored minimized or rejected in urban school settings Beyond such grounding and ambitions the CRESPAR TD evaluation framework seeks to re position evaluation in low income urban contexts as accountable not only for producing accurate and relevant information on the program being evaluated but also for enabling and contributing to the program s social betterment and social justice intentions This re positioning is effected primarily by a collaborative co constructionist model for evaluation in which CRESPAR program developers implementers and evaluators along with key program stakeholders partner together in envisioning implementing and evaluating programs that are responsive to and make cultural sense in the context at hand CRESPAR TD evaluators are contextually and culturally engaged and are responsible for this engagement This volume highlights the approach s five major themes engaging stakeholders co construction responsiveness cultural and contextual relevance and triangulation of perspectives
