Building Bridges Carving Niches An Enduring Legacy Reprint 2000:

British Business in Post-Colonial Malaysia, 1957-70 Nicholas J. White, 2004-08-02 This book explores the limits of the idea of neo colonialism the idea that in the period immediately after independence Malaya Malaysia enjoyed only a pseudo independence largely because of the entrenched and dominant position of British business interests allied to indigenous elites The author argues that although British business did indeed have a strong position in Malaysia in this period Malaysian politicians and administrators were able to utilise British business which was relatively weak vis a vis the Malaysian state for their own ends at the same time as indigenous businesses and foreign non British competitors were gathering strength In addition despite the commitment of both Conservative and Labour governments in the UK to preserving British influence worldwide through the Commonwealth relationship British firms in Malaysia received only limited support from the British post imperial state

A Matter of Risk Kam Hing Lee, 2012 The insurance industry in Malaysia is a large and important sector of the economy in terms of capitalization business turnover assets and the number of employees Insurance companies played a crucial role in early Western economic expansion into Malaya underwriting shipping mining and plantation ventures to protect entrepreneurs from excessive risk The scope of the insurance business later broadened to cover fire risks motor insurance and workmen s compensation while war risk coverage helped ensure that the economy continued to function during the 1940s and 1950s After independence the social and political environment of independent Malaysia offered new opportunities for the insurance industry A Matter of Risk shows how insurance companies established themselves in an unfamiliar environment marketed new products responded to diverse demands and safeguarded market share and profit against competition Local firms faced a major challenge as overseas insurance companies moved from running agency offices to setting up of branches taking over or collaborating with existing companies and eventually incorporating themselves as local companies The study looks at the role of tariff associations and insurance trade organizations such as the Persatuan Insurans Am Malaysia Malaysian General Insurance Association in maintaining order in the industry through self regulation
