dialogue in the usual sense and Hodgson's sentences often become very long using semicolons and numerous prepositional phrases. The style is similar to the style Hodgson uses in his novel The Night Land although Boats is a much shorter novel and easier to complete. While The Night Land is an early example of science fiction, Boats is primarily a survival and adventure story with elements of horror in the form of monsters. The monsters do not necessarily require a supernatural explanation; there are no ghosts as in Hodgson's novel The Ghost Pirates or some of his Carnacki stories, but there are also few explanations given. Boats in its strong use of concrete detail evokes a lost world and is also an interesting case study in human relationships and class mores as the class distinctions between the narrator and the crew members are broken down by the shared situation they find themselves in but are eventually re-established.
