Bob Carr A Self Made Man:

Bob Carr Andrew West, Rachel Morris, 2003 Bob Carr is in every respect a self made man a serious construction as his childhood friend Michael Boggs describes him If you think you know Bob Carr think again Born the son of a train driver raised in working class Matraville Carr was propelled by a desire for something more in life through sheer effort and determination he excelled at school and university and carved himself a key role in the Labor Party Written by two leading journalists this biography reveals the man beneath and beyond the public exterior Featuring material drawn from exclusive interviews with Carr his family friends and colleagues as well as his opponents it sheds new light on Carr s rise to power It offers a unique insight into the honing of his political skills and the ongoing challenges from his opponents within the party On a personal note Bob Carr talks openly for the first time about the death of his youngest brother Greg from a heroin overdose

Yes, Premier John Wanna, Paul D. Williams, 2005 Since 2002 and for the first time since Federation all state and territory governments in Australia have been held by the Australian Labor Party Yes Premier features a chapter on each state or territory and in each case focuses on the leader who has led their party to power and so created this unprecedented and historical situation It examines each Labor premier and in Tasmania s case two and territory chief minister s individual rise to power and their political and personal style The chapters are written by experts in the politics and political culture of their home state Part personal and part political biographies the chapters also assess the instruments of leadership any modern state or territory leader must master in order to remain in the top job
