The Body in the Fjord Katherine Hall Page, 1998 Body and Image Christopher Tilley, 2016-09-16 The understanding and interpretation of ancient architecture landscapes and art has always been viewed through an iconographic lens a cognitive process based on traditional practices in art history But ancient people did not ascribe their visions on canvas rather on hills stones and fields Thus Chris Tilley argues the iconographic approach falls short of understanding how ancient people interacted with their imagery A kinaesthetic approach one that uses the full body and all the senses can better approximate the meaning that these artifacts had for their makers and today's viewers The body intersects the landscape in a myriad of ways through the effort to reach the image the angles that one can use to view the multiple senses required for interaction Tilley outlines the choreographic basis of understanding ancient landscapes and art phenomenologically and demonstrates the power of his thesis through examples of rock art and megalithic architecture in Norway Ireland and Sweden This is a powerful new model from one of the leading contemporary theorists in archaeology
