The Development of the B-52 and Jet Propulsion Mark David Mandeles, 1998 National security decision makers face an uncertain world where the accelerated growth of knowledge has changed the character of technological advance and destabilized long standing relations within and among the military services Dr Mandeles separates the principles that guide decision making from the proverbs through a case study of decision making in the early post World War II period This study examines the impact of organization on the invention and development of jet propulsion in the form of the B 52 and illustrates both the organizational conditions conducive to developing new operational concepts and the organizational innovations necessary to implement new technology This study also examines how the Air Force organized to learn and acquire new technology how the Air Force conceived or identified problems and how it organized to ensure management would respond to program failure or errors Attention is devoted to the origins of the weapons system operational requirement the initial concept of operation the evolution of technology organizational structure and implementation

Local Consequences of the Global Cold War Jeffrey A. Engel, 2007 Up to now the study of cold war history has been fully engaged in stressing the international character and broad themes of the story This volume turns such diplomatic history upside down by studying how actions of international relations affected local popular life Each chapter has its origins in a major international issue and then unfolds the consequences of that issue for some region or city Thus the starting points for the various contributions are great unifying questions regarding postwar occupation militarization industrialization and decolonization But the ending points are small and dispersed such as movies in Japan race relations in the American South forests in East Germany and industry in Novosibirsk Collectively these stories show how the cold war affected every facet of life East and West urban and rural in developed and developing nations in the superpowers and on the periphery of the international system
