Business Engagement in Building Healthy Communities Institute of Medicine, Board on Population Health and Public Health Practice, Roundtable on Population Health Improvement, 2015-05-08 Business Engagement in Building Healthy Communities is the summary of a workshop convened by the Institute of Medicine's Roundtable on Population Health Improvement in July 2014 to consider the role of business in improving population health beyond the usual worksite wellness and health promotion activities. The workshop followed previous roundtable discussions on the importance of applying a health lens to decision making in non health sectors and the need for cross sector collaborations to advance population health. Invited speakers included representatives from several businesses that have taken action to improve the health of their communities and representatives of business coalitions on health. The workshop was designed to discuss why engaging in population health improvement is good for business, explore how businesses can be effective key leaders in improving the health of communities and discuss ways in which businesses can engage in population health improvement. This report is a record of the presentations and discussion of the event.

Jain Business Engagement and Ethics Shagun C. Jain, Prakash C. Jain, Malay R. Patel, 2025-03-12 Jain narrative as well as canonical literature indicates that the first tirthankara of Jains Lord Adinath was the founder of work and knowledge based culture in India. He taught people how to live as communities and adhere to certain prearranged rules of coexistence and cooperation. He prescribed six different skills to be acquired by his subjects for worldly activities like i) Asi swordsmanship for protection ii) Masi writing skills iii) Krishi agriculture iv) Vidya knowledge v) Vanijya trade and commerce and vi) Shilp crafts. These skills not only help in creating worldly wealth but also assist individuals and communities to live happily with overall prosperity. Following the path shown by Lord Adinath and subsequent tirthankaras, the Jain society from ancient times has been engaged in business activities with ahimsa (non violence) as their guiding principle. Owing to this principle of ahimsa, we do find trends of the Jain community being engaged in commerce and trade. The historical trajectory of mercantile characteristics among the Jains continued till date and since India's Independence many renowned Jains have contributed to the development of India. This book documents the conceptual foundation of Jain tenets with reference to the Western approach toward business ethics; it also covers biographies of successful Jain entrepreneurs in the past and present. Apart from the details on the conceptual framework of Jain Business Ethics and Jain Business Engagements through the ages, it also contains various essays on Jain Values and Entrepreneurship. This book is an academic attempt to examine the Jain religion as an Eastern case study which will be of interest to readers who are looking for an alternative perspective in light of contemporary worries about global business and economic systems.
