By the Grand Canal William Riviere, 2005-11 In the immediate aftermath of World War I Hugh Thurne a British diplomat involved in the peace negotiations decides to flee to his second home in Venice rather than return to his wife and the charade of his marriage in London Although profoundly disturbed about the long term prospects for peace he has faith in the city's power to raise his spirits Hugh eagerly looks forward to visits with his old friends Giacomo and Valentina Venier in their dilapidated palazzo on the Grand Canal to dallying with a young opera singer Emanuela and to the arrival of Violet Mancroft the widow of his best friend lost in the war What he does not anticipate is the shadow lying over the Venier family's future Nor has he reckoned with the vagaries of his own human heart Evoking the beauty of Venice By the Grand Canal is a novel about premonition for the future and the war it portends about death and memory and also about an unexpected love between two old friends The Grand Canal Umberto Franzoi, Administrative Officer Mark Smith, Mark Smith, 2004-09-18 Reproduces the journey along the world's most picturesque waterway through beautiful photographs of illustrious palaces public and religious buildings all taken from the perspective of a boat Each photograph displays a length of 278 feet of building facades enabling the visitor to study the architectural history of each edifice Venice on Foot Hugh A. Douglas, 2012-12-21 This early work on Venice is both expensive and hard to find in its first edition It contains a travel guide to the sights of interest and Grand Canal routes through the city of Venice This is a fascinating work and is thoroughly recommended for anyone with an interest in the history of Venice Many of the earliest books particularly those dating back to the 1900s and before are now extremely scarce We are republishing these classic works in affordable high quality modern editions using the original text and artwork Venice on Foot Hugh A. Seeing Venice Mark Doty, Bernardo Bellotto, 2002 Bernardo Bellotto's magnificent View of the Grand Canal provides a rich visual record of life in eighteenth century Venice This painting one of the most popular in the Getty Museum is so sweeping in its scope and so detailed that it requires repeated viewings to take in its portrait of daily life in Venice in the 1780s This small book presents Bellotto's great painting in a series of beautiful details that allow the reader to examine the painting closely and enjoy the colorful and busy goings on of Venetian life captured so unforgettably by Bellotto The book jacket unfolds to become a small poster of the painting in its entirety Accompanying these delightful images is a lyrical essay by noted American poet Mark Doty Together Bellotto's painting and Doty's prose make for an unforgettable encounter with the art and life of Venice
