Grieving as a Teacher's Curriculum Edward Podsiadlik III, 2019-12-16 Teachers are not automatons An educator's personal values concerns and aspirations cannot be cleaved from one's professional life without impacting the quality and relevance of the teaching experience This book examines spaces where the personal and professional intersect thereby deepening our understanding of the nuances and complexities of a teacher's work It draws readers into places of vulnerability moments of grieving As a teacher's curriculum as a curriculum of life grief has much to teach about sympathy compassion and resilience Educational philosophy literary analysis and reflective practice are used to explore ways grief can help us better ascertain the scope and depth of the educators we are and have the potential to become Pieces of literature used include works by Pat Conroy Charles Dickens Stephen King Rabindranath Tagore Virgil Franz Wedekind and Virginia Woolf Also included are ideas from a diverse set of educational philosophers social and cultural commentators poets and more Chapters conclude with Topics for Reflection for further individual and or collective reflection and discourse Educators at all stages of their careers will benefit from this study that demonstrates the impact personal grieving can have on remembering recovering and reidentifying with one's mission and vision As a resource for pre service or veteran teachers the text celebrates the power of introspection to transform our work our lives and the lives of our students It is equally relevant for parents coaches mentors and anyone who takes on the kinds of teacher roles that impact nourish and inspire the lives of others See inside the book

The Intensity Factor Susan Bakeman, 2026-03-23 You knew your child was different before anyone else did Not just bright Not just advanced Something else entirely The questions that never stopped The emotional intensity that could flip from joy to despair in an instant The mind that raced ahead while the emotions lagged behind You were told you were lucky You were told your child was gifted But no one told you it would feel like this the exhaustion the isolation the constant second guessing No one told you that loving a profoundly gifted child could leave you feeling so profoundly alone The Intensity Factor is the book you have been searching for Written for parents who are tired of being told their child is too much and tired of feeling like they are failing at a journey no one seems to understand this guide offers something different not a program to fix your child but a framework to understand them Grounded in the real experiences of parents navigating asynchronous development overexcitabilities and the unique challenges of raising a child whose wiring defies the usual parenting advice this book meets you where you are exhausted committed and desperate for a way forward that doesn't cost you your sanity Inside these pages you will discover how to shift from managing your child's intensity to guiding it You will learn why traditional discipline fails with a child who can out argue a lawyer how to navigate the complex terrain of school advocacy without becoming that parent and what it really means to set boundaries with a master negotiator You will find practical scripts for the hard moments strategies for preserving your own well being and the validation you have been craving the intensity is not something you are doing wrong It is who your child is And you are exactly the parent they need Whether you are in the trenches of toddlerhood navigating the school years or trying to make sense of your child's asynchronous development The Intensity Factor offers a compassionate research informed path from surviving to thriving No judgment No pressure to be perfect Just the tools understanding and community you need to raise your intense child without losing yourself in the process Raising Daughters September McCarthy,2026-02-03 This is a delicate dance Raising daughters is a divine gift It's wonderful and at times excruciatingly painful Raising Daughters is loving companion book for the daily journey of mothering young women Written with warmth and honesty September begins by exploring God's delight in you as a woman and a mother and continues with topics on purpose fears generational lies grit grace conflict and the beauty of womanhood This book is for moms who've tripped over their words and recognize their wisdom isn't enough It's for the mother who feels afraid to talk to her daughters about uncomfortable subjects And for the mom fatigued by the emotional rollercoaster of girls It's for mothers raising daughters to love Jesus and their family and for moms releasing daughters into the world Each chapter includes relatable teaching application questions action steps and reflective prayer Join September in learning the steps for Raising Daughters THE SAPIENS PARADOX : JOURNEYS BEYOND BINARY THINKING RAVI R SRIVASTAVA,2025-12-28 Why do the most intelligent minds fall into the simplest traps Why do educated societies still think in black and white And why is it so hard for us to hold two truths at once even when life itself is built on contradictions The Sapiens Paradox is a journey into the psychological historical and spiritual forces that shape how we think believe love fight and evolve Drawing from cutting edge psychology ancient wisdom breakthrough scientific discoveries and unforgettable real world stories this book exposes the greatest limitation of the modern human mind binary thinking in a non binary world A Book for the Curious the Conflicted and the Courageous We live in an age overflowing with information yet starving for wisdom Algorithms reinforce our beliefs news feeds reward our outrage and society pushes us toward rigid identities But as F Scott Fitzgerald famously said The test of a first rate intelligence is the ability to hold two opposing ideas in mind at the same time and still function This book shows why that ability is not just intelligence it is survival A Journey Across Civilizations Mindsets and Paradoxes Inside these pages you will discover Why the human brain is wired for motivated reasoning using intelligence not to discover truth but to defend beliefs Why knowledge isn't wisdom and why the wisest individuals often come from unexpected places Why great thinkers across history Buddha Marcus Aurelius Lao Tzu Rumi Bohr Einstein embraced contradictions instead of fleeing them How cultures across the world from Japanese kintsugi to African Ubuntu to Indian Advaita found beauty in paradox What dialectical thinking can teach us about personal peace relationships leadership creativity and moral clarity From the paradox of choice in modern psychology to the moral dilemmas of the Mahabharata from the double slit experiment to Zen koans from historical revolutions to modern digital tribalism this book reveals why the future belongs to minds that can navigate complexity without collapsing into extremes Stories That Illuminate Research That Provokes In gripping narratives and thought provoking case studies you will meet A mathematician who solved a decades old problem only after accepting two contradictory models as simultaneously true A monk who found enlightenment in the tension between solitude and the modern world A scientist who realized that the universe itself runs on paradox particle and wave chaos and order Ordinary people whose lives changed the moment they learned to think in yes and also instead of either or These stories don't just entertain they transform A Guide for an Age of Noise Certainty and Division The Sapiens Paradox does not offer comforting answers It offers something far more valuable the tools to think clearly in a world that demands complexity depth nuance and courage Whether you are a seeker a skeptic a leader a student a philosopher at heart or simply someone tired of polarizing narratives this book will challenge the boundaries of what you believe is possible By the end you will see that the greatest wisdom does not come from choosing sides but from transcending them A Final Invitation Step into a world where opposites coexist contradictions illuminate and deeper truths reveal themselves only to those bold enough to look beyond binaries Welcome to the paradox Welcome to the journey Nerve Indira Samarasekera, Martha Piper, 2021-09-14 Candid and insightful perspectives on the dilemmas and opportunities women confront as they take on leadership positions Martha Piper and Indira Samarasekera had vastly different career paths on their way to becoming the first and so far only female presidents of two of Canada's largest and most respected research universities and directors of some of the nation's largest market cap companies but what they had in common was their gender their willingness to take risks when leadership opportunities presented themselves and a work ethic second to none It was not always easy pretty or fair but it was always the result of choosing to answer the call to lead A call that in the authors view too many women still turn away from In Nerve Lessons on Leadership from Two Women Who Went First Piper and Samarasekera share their personal and professional stories offering guidance for women leaders of every age and at every stage of their career Nerve is a must read for any woman who is leading today considering leading or thinking about life after leading The Maitland Folio Manuscript Sir William Alexander Craigie, 1919 Host Bibliographic Record for Boundwith Item Barcode 30112124398303, 1919 The Maitland Folio Manuscript Sir Richard Maitland, 1919 Scot. Ingram Esq., 2018-04-09 Are you stuck in a dead end situation Do you know you have great potential inside but fear you'll always fall short Do you feel like you're letting yourself down Fabulous Faithful and Free is your roadmap from stuck to stellar In Fabulous Faithful and Free Juanita takes you step by step through a personal transformation that will unlock your unique gifts reveal your true beauty and unleash your wildest dreams North-western Christian Advocate, 1899 Behind Those Eyes Tushar Chatterji, 2026-02-28 Every dog has its day Every dog has its way But when their world collides with ours something extraordinary unfolds a silent transformation that reshapes both hearts and destinies For it is only when man and mutt meet at the crossroad of love loss and longing that life begins to reveal its truest form Only this time the gaze has shifted The world is no longer being seen through human eyes but through a particular canine crafted pup i licious lens of instinct emotion and unfiltered honesty Behind Those Eyes invites you into the soulful often unspoken realm of six remarkable lives Piku Nala Laila Chelsea Dolly and Rani Each of them carries a story stitched with threads of joy and heartbreak belonging and betrayal innocence and realization Through their eyes we rediscover the things we humans often forget the art of forgiveness the sanctity of loyalty and the quiet courage to love even when it hurts In their tales lies a reflection of us the flawed fragile yet fiercely feeling beings who share their world For behind those eyes glimmer not just devotion and purity but also the echoes of everything we once were before life taught us restraint Because sometimes the most authentic stories about being human are told best by those who never learned to speak our language The Bannatyne
