See more in our hbites Advanced DSO

Advanced dso is the basic data target in BW 7.5 which can be used to store data in different layers of datawarehouse. It is used in modeling extensively for storing and transferring data to further data targets.

SAP has simplified its modeling objects by bringing up different types of ADSO which can be used as standard dso, infocube, PSA, write optimized, planning cube, direct update, inventory cube etc.

Thus, we do not have to create different objects for different functions, simply we have to select appropriate template while creating ADSO.

Below objects can be modeled using ADSO:

1. PSA for data storage as it is from source (Data Acquisition Layer)
2. Standard dso for delta calculation (change log) with overwrite functionality (Datawarehouse Layer - delta calculation)
3. Corporate memory with reporting capabilities
4. Corporate memory with compression capabilities
5. Direct update dso for planning
6. Standard Infocube with summation functionality, non cumulative key figures (Datawarehouse Layer - data mart)
7. Planning Infocube

So, in this way, we can see that there are 7 types of advanced dsos.
