Neo-Aristotelian Perspectives in Metaphysics Daniel D. Novotný,Lukáš Novák,2014-04-16 This volume re examines some of the major themes at the intersection of traditional and contemporary metaphysics The book uses as a point of departure Francisco Suarez's Metaphysical Disputations published in 1597 Minimalist metaphysics in empiricist pragmatist clothing have today become mainstream in analytic philosophy Independently of this development the progress of scholarship in ancient and medieval philosophy makes clear that traditional forms of metaphysics have affinities with some of the streams in contemporary analytic metaphysics The book brings together leading contemporary metaphysicians to investigate the viability of a neo Aristotelian metaphysics

Skepticism about the External World Panayot Butchvarov,1998 Do we know or even have evidence that external material objects exist Drawing powerfully on techniques from both analytic and continental philosophy Butchvarov offers a strikingly original approach to this perennial issue He argues that only a direct realist view of perception the view that in perception we are directly aware of material objects has any hope of providing a compelling response to the skeptic The seemingly insuperable problem for direct realism has always been to explain hallucination dreaming and other situations where the object of awareness is not a really existing physical object This has led many philosophers to adopt views in which perceptual consciousness involves a subjective state that is the direct object of awareness Butchvarov argues persuasively that all such views are helpless in the face of the skeptic's arguments His radical innovation is to insist that the direct object of perceptual and even dreaming and hallucinatory experience is usually a material object but not necessarily one that actually exists This leads to a sophisticated metaphysics in which reality is ultimately constructed by human decisions out of objects that are ontologically more basic but which cannot be said in themselves to be either real or unreal Butchvarov's ingenious approach to a longstanding philosophical issue as well as the extensive range of his references to traditional and contemporary discussions of the topic makes Skepticism about the External World a thrilling and essential book for philosophers and philosophically minded readers

Complexity and Analysis Stewart Umphrey, 2002-01-01 Wherever we look we notice complexity Philosophically the concept constitutes a tangled web of problems in theory as well as daily life Complexity and Analysis is a meticulous rendering of these problems tackling the seldom considered nature of complexity that confronts ontological analysts and holists alike Stewart Umphrey expertly describes the limits of analysis as they have come to light within mathematics the natural sciences and analytic philosophy explaining how Aristotle came upon and sought to move beyond the limits of ontological analysis In trying to understand any complex entity Umphrey argues one succeeds in meeting the criterion of metaphysical adequacy only if one fails to meet the criterion of epistemological adequacy Ranging across an array of subjects including Kantian and Hegelian idealism this book provides a superb account of how our own complexity presents not only theoretical problems but ethical and political dilemmas of great practical significance

Hegel's Philosophy of Universal Reconciliation Stephen Theron, 2013-07-16 This book is the final one in a series of four on Hegel as theologian first presented as such in New Hegelian Essays Cambridge Scholars Publishing 2012 In From Narrative to Necessity 2012 we then set forth the essential theme of Hegel's theology as the transcendence of picture thinking In a third volume Reason's Developing Self Revelation 2013 we specified this same theme as humanity's accomplished future ultimate end of life the Idea Here finally we discover the reconciliation of Mind with itself as the nerve of Hegel's thought Hence this book is subtitled Logic as Form of the World picking up on Gottlob Frege's rhetorical question What is the world without the reason The first chapter recapitulates that intimate union of God and man the Christian confessional movement would manifest set forth here philosophically This leads naturally to an identification of faith the virtue with the habit of rationality Religious apologetic is found to fall short of philosophy which forms a system chapter 15 In Logic and the World chapter 18 we further specify such logical knowledge as issuing in rational will called love in J M E McTaggart's Hegelian writings Man himself herself is finally identified with Mind as both the uniquely determining form the Idea of our self transcending nature universalising the individual individualising the universal and equally form of the world Here the thrust of Hegel's metaphysics confirms those of Aristotle on this point Last after some historical and practical reflections medieval thought the clergy Marxism we end where we began with the transforming effect of Hegel's thought as developing the doctrine of a divine creation in particular while also developing the doctrine of this development itself in anticipatory development therefore of J H Newman's classic essay of 1845 on The Development of Christian Doctrine Philosophical Naturalism Peter A. French, Theodore Edward Uehling, Howard K. Wettstein, 1994 In recent years naturalism has become a focal point in the discussions of many contemporary philosophers Philosophical Naturalism in the series Midwest Studies in Philosophy offers a broad sampling of previously unpublished essays that represent the current status of discussions of naturalism Arts & Humanities Citation Index, 1983 A multidisciplinary index covering the journal literature of the arts and humanities It fully covers 1 144 of the world's leading arts and humanities journals and it indexes individually selected relevant items from over 6 800 major science and social science journals
