Difference And Identity A Special Issue Of Literature And Medicine:

Difference and Identity Jonathan M. Metz, Suzanne Poirier, 2005-07-15 In an increasingly diverse society it is essential that medicine be aware of matters of difference Medical humanities programs promote awareness of the social aspects of medicine and the Association of American Medical Colleges has recently instituted cultural competencies for clinical interaction for the training of medical students Yet these efforts to impart understanding of the cross cultural aspects of medicine are still hindered by a significant limitation within a medical system whose currency is diagnosis difference is primarily defined through disease This special issue of Literature and Medicine focuses on difference and identity in the context of disease and disability The articles collected here explore the complex ways in which notions of disease disability and difference are related and in which bodies marked by gender race disability sexuality and ethnic identities experience disease in specific ways The essays take a humanities based approach to the subject and emphasize an awareness and sensitivity to difference through forms of symbolic representation such as metaphor and narrative This volume provides a heuristic lens through which relationships between individual expressions of identity and communal experiences of difference can be considered Each article speaks to the process whereby individual stories and strategies shape and are in turn shaped by the institutions they seek to transform Literature and Medicine is devoted to exploring interfaces between literary and medical knowledge and understanding The journal showcases the creative and critical work of renowned physician writers leading literary scholars and medical humanists

Gender Scripts in Medicine and Narrative Angela Laflen, 2010-06-09 Gender is an exciting area of current research in the medical humanities and by combining the study of medical narratives with theories of gender and sexuality the essays in Gender Scripts in Medicine and Narrative illustrate the power of gender stereotypes to shape the way medicine is practiced and perceived The chapters of Gender Scripts in Medicine and Narrative investigate gendered perceptions and representations of healers and patients in fiction memoir popular literature poetry film television the history of science new media and visual art The fourteen chapters of Gender Scripts in Medicine and Narrative are organized into four cohesive sections These chapters investigate the impact of gender stereotypes on medical narratives from a variety of points of view considering narratives from diverse languages time periods genres and media Each section addresses some of the most pressing and provocative issues in theories of gender and the medical humanities I Gendering the Medical Gaze and Pathology II Monitoring Race through Reproduction III Rescripting Trauma and Healing and IV Medical Masculinities Along with these sections Gender Scripts Medicine and Narrative features a preface by Rita Charon MD PhD Director and Founder The Program in Narrative Medicine Columbia University a foreword by Marcelline Block and an introduction by Angela Laflen This collection takes a truly interdisciplinary look at the topic of gender and medicine and the impressive group of contributors to the anthology represent a wide range of academic fields of inquiry including medical humanities bioethics English modern languages women s studies film theory postcolonial theory art
