Digestive Tract Tumors

Morton A. Meyers

Digestive Tract Tumors:

Digestive Tract Tumors K. Inokuchi,1986-03-31 The problem of digestive tract tumors presents multifaceted aspects which involve epidemiology pathogenesis histopathology surgery and adjuvant multidisciplinary modality Time trends in cancer mortality vary in the individual cancers Mortality from stomach cancer shows a decreasing tendency in most countries although Japan still has the highest incidence in the world Intestinal other than rectum and pancreatic cancers have shown an increase in most countries while mortality due to liver cell and gallbladder cancer vary greatly by locality Since most cancers are considered to be related to environmental and lifestyle exposures such as diet smoking or excessive drinking there is hope that action on these factors may serve to substantially reduce occurrence of the disease Recent progress in early diagnosis has made it feasible to detect small and minute cancers and these have proven possible to cure with relatively favorable results The most important advancement has come from a multidisciplinary approach to cancer treatment utilizing a balanced application of surgery radiation therapy and chemotherapy A considerable increase in the five year survival rate has been realized in stomach cancer While progress is being made in the practical treatment of this disease it remains far better to prevent than to cure For the first time immunization offers a unique opportunity to prevent liver cell cancer

Diseases of the Digestive Tract and Their Treatment Arthur Everett Austin,1916 Neoplasms of the Digestive Tract Morton A. Meyers,1998 Basic technologies of gastroenterological diagnosis and their applications Journal of the National Cancer Institute National Cancer Institute (U.S.),1976 Cancer of the Digestive Tract, Clinical Management Tilden C. Everson,Warren Henry Cole,1969 JNCI, Journal of the National Cancer Institute National Cancer Institute (U.S.),1980 Diseases of the Digestive System Frank Billings,Julius Lincoln Salinger,1910 Biomarkers, Functional Mechanisms, and Therapeutic Potentials in Gastrointestinal Cancers Zequn Li,Kui Zhang,Qun Zhang,Huashan Shi,Dongshi Chen,2023-11-17 Significant changes in diet environment and population increase gastrointestinal cancer morbidity A growing number of novel biomarkers and underlying mechanisms are being elucidated some of which may even conflict with assumptions of past decades Therefore collecting recent findings on novel diagnostic prognostic factors biomarkers and or risk factors in gastrointestinal cancers is a prerequisite for a better understanding of the disease Despite remarkable progressions in surgical treatments and chemotherapies the prognosis of gastrointestinal cancer is far from satisfactory due to the high occurrence of drug resistance Based on the identification of novel biomarkers as well as their underlying mechanisms targeted drug development will provide significant complementary therapeutic effects to conventional chemoradiotherapies High throughput methods such as next generation sequencing on RNA level and mass spectrometry on protein lipid metabolite level serve as efficient strategies for biomarker identification and drug development This Research Topic aims at presenting recent advances on gastrointestinal cancer biomarkers and their underlying functional mechanisms providing a better understanding of carcinogenesis tumor progression tumor relapse as well as drug resistance This will subsequently contribute to the development of novel therapeutic interventions targeting gastrointestinal cancers thus improving patients outcomes

Diseases of the Digestive System Anthony Bassler,1929 New immunotherapy strategies and related therapeutic targets for gastrointestinal malignancies Chi Chun Wong,Yantao Tian,Chenyu Sun,Qun Zhao,Ganesan Ramamoorthi,Ping'An Ding,2024-03-13 Currently the treatment options for gastrointestinal malignancies mainly include surgery chemotherapy radiotherapy and molecular targeted therapy etc Drug therapy is one of the main treatments for patients with advanced stages but the efficacy of chemotherapy seems to have reached a plateau and the progress of traditional molecular targeted therapy is relatively slow In addition the benefits of the current chemotherapy combined with targeted therapy for patients with advanced stages of gastrointestinal malignancies are still not satisfactory Tumor immunotherapy is an emerging therapeutic approach and is a current research hotspot and there are hopes that immunotherapy can help further improve the prognosis and quality of life for patients with gastrointestinal malignancies At the same time potential targets of immunotherapeutic drugs and prognostic biomarkers for gastrointestinal malignancies have been less studied than other common cancers such as lung cancer Prognostic biomarker studies are the beginning of exploring new drug targets and revealing potential mechanisms of tumor progression Immunotherapies particularly PD1 or PD L1 antagonists have demonstrated effective therapeutic efficacy against various types of cancer To date many PD1 drugs are available for cancer treatment and more than 100 PD1 drugs are in clinical trials However the question of how to screen sensitive patients and predict the efficacy of immunotherapy remains unresolved In addition predictive biomarkers and treatment guidelines for immunotherapy of gastrointestinal malignancies have hardly been studied
