Digital Archives from Excavation and Fieldwork Archaeology Data Service,2000 The Arts and Humanities Data Service AHDS funded by the UK government has produced this series of Guides to Good Practice to provide the arts and humanities research and teaching communities with practical instruction in applying recognized standards and good practice to the creation preservation and use of digital resources Some of the Guides focus on methods and applications relevant to arts and humanities disciplines such as archaeology history linguistics text studies and performing arts Others address those areas which cross disciplinary boundaries All Guides identify and explore key issues and provide comprehensive pointers for those who need more specific information As such they are essential reference material for anyone in interested in computer assisted research and teaching in the arts and humanities Archaeology Kevin Greene,2002 A substantially revised and expanded edition of one of the most widely used and respected general introductions to the field of archaeology The Virtual Representation of the Past Mark Greengrass,Lorna M. Hughes,2008 This unique book critically evaluates the virtual representation of the past through digital media A distinguished team of leading experts in the field approach digital research in history and archaeology from contrasting viewpoints including philosoph Geophysical Data in Archaeology Armin Schmidt,2001 Geophysical Data in Archaeology in the Arts and Humanities Data Service Guides to Good Practice series is a basic guide to good practice in the creation methodology use and storage of geophysical data for archaeologists who increasingly use sophisticated methods for collecting and interpreting information Archiving Aerial Photography and Remote Sensing Data Archaeology Data Service,1999 This guide aims to set out the principles of good practice in the creation and maintenance of digital resources related to aerial photography including both optical and infra red images satellite and airborne remote sensing and the archaeological interpretations made from such data The suggestions offered here aim to ensure that these digital resources can be re used and consequently detailed archiving advice is included

CAD Harrison Eiteljorg,2003 A guide to using CAD in the humanities disciplines Annuario della Scuola Archeologica di Atene e delle Missioni Italiane in Oriente, Supplemento 13. Athens and Attica from the Late Bronze Age to the end of the Archaic period. The spatial roots of politics and society Alain Duplouy, Nikolaos Arvanitis,2024-12-27 This volume contains the proceedings of the international conference Attica from the Late Bronze Age to the End of the Archaic Period The Spatial Roots of Politics and Society organised by the Italian Archaeological School at Athens and the University Paris 1 Panth on Sorbonne on 10 and 11 June 2021 The venue was originally scheduled for 13 and 14 March 2020 in Athens but the event fell victim to the global COVID19 crisis and was eventually reorganised as an online conference in June 2021 The conference was organised in connection with the research project Lands of Meaning A GIS Study of Space and Social Praxis in Ancient Attica from the Mycenaean Age to the Birth of Democracy 1200 480 BC which was carried out as a Marie Sk odowska Curie Action MSCA between 2017 and 2019 at the University Paris 1 Panth on Sorbonne The Lands of Meaning project aimed to re examine the Athenian territory from the end of the Bronze Age to the beginning of the Classical period by considering Attica as a space that was socially constructed through a constant dialogue between the landscape and the communities that inhabited it The aim of the project was to integrate the large amount of archaeological data collected throughout the 20th c into a heuristic and hermeneutic framework that considers the spatial and ecological dimensions of historical cultural political and social phenomena The Lands of Meaning project was originally conceived as a two year pilot project to introduce new digital methods and heuristic social theories of space The project will be further developed at the University Paris 1 Panth on Sorbonne as a long term endeavour to incorporate space into archaeological thinking and to consider the material and territorial conditions of the emergence of the city state in Athens and more broadly in ancient Greece The conference programme can be found below The presentations were not recorded to allow for a lively discussion Most of the speeches given online were then converted into the contributions collected in this volume supplemented by a chapter by Pavlos Karvonis on Roman Attica and a description of the Thorikos Archive by the Belgian team Unfortunately some of the lectures given at the conference could not be included in the volume First of all we would like to thank Emanuele Papi Director of the Italian Archaeological School at Athens who fully supported the project and proposed to host the conference which was to take place in March 2020 at the School s premises in Athens Our heartfelt thanks go to our Greek colleagues from the Hellenic Ministry of Culture and the Ephorates of Antiquities of Attica Eleni Andrikou Stella Chrysoulaki Anastasia Gadolou and Christina Merkouri who agreed to chair the conference sessions and led fascinating and disciplined discussions We also invited four titans as we amicably called them during the conference to a final round of talks Tonio Ho lscher Irene Lemos Robin Osborne and Franc ois de Polignac took up the challenge and drew fascinating conclusions from the presentations as well as some key ideas for the elaboration of ancient history from archaeological evidence As it would have been difficult to render these lively thoughts into formal papers we have decided to preserve them in our oral memory Finally we would like to thank the Italian Archaeological School at Athens for including the publication of the conference in its collections as well as the two anonymous reviewers whose comments have given the authors food for thoughts This book was published with the support of the Marie Sk odowska Curie Action the University Paris 1 Panth on Sorbonne and the research unit Trajectoires UMR 8215 While Nikolaos Arvanitis was involved in the organisation of the conference as part of his MSCA scholarship Alain Duplouy compiled and edited all the contributions on his own We are also indebted to Mariana Silva Porto who thoroughly re read all contributions especially those written by non native speakers and significantly improved the texts As a doctoral student working on the Paris project she deserves full credit for contributing to the edition of the volume

Excavations at Tintagel Castle, Cornwall, 1990-1999 Rachel C. Barrowman,Colleen E. Batey,Christopher D. Morris (B.A.),2007 Romantic rock perched sea girt Tintagel is a magical place that resonates with Arthurian associations and the archaeological reality is no less intriguing than the legend Investigation of the site began in the 1930s when Dr Ralegh

Radford uncovered remains of buildings with significant volumes of eastern Mediterranean and North African pottery of fifth to seventh century date suggesting a western British site of iconic importance in the economy of the late Antique and Byzantine world The research presented in this book comes from renewed fieldwork carried out at this promontory site over several seasons between April 1990 and July 1999 using modern archaeological techniques together with previously unpublished work from Radford s private archive along with that of his architect J A Wright This work has demonstrated the complexity and variability of building forms and associated occupation at the site and the wide ranging connections of Tintagel during the fifth to seventh centuries as reflected in the extensive ceramic assemblage while re examination of the Great Ditch has established that this is the largest promontory or hill top site of its period A unique glass assemblage and a stone with a probable imperial inscription to Honorius later the object of graffiti from three post Roman personages Paternus Coliavus and Artognou serve as dramatic testimony to the cultural and literary milieu of high status Dumnonian society in the post Roman period   Archaeology Hannah Cobb,Kevin Greene,Tom Moore,2024-03-19 This fully updated sixth edition of a classic classroom text is essential reading for core courses in archaeology Archaeology An Introduction explains how the subject emerged from an amateur pursuit in the eighteenth century into a serious discipline and explores changing trends in interpretation in recent decades The authors convey the excitement of archaeology while helping readers to evaluate new discoveries by explaining the methods and theories that lie behind them In addition to drawing upon examples and case studies from many regions of the world and periods of the past the book incorporates the authors own fieldwork research and teaching It continues to include key reference and further reading sections to help new readers find their way through the ever expanding range of archaeological publications and online sources as well as colour illustrations and boxed topic sections to increase comprehension Serving as an accessible and lucid textbook and engaging students with contemporary issues this book is designed to support students studying Archaeology at an introductory level New to the sixth edition Inclusion of the latest survey and imaging techniques such as the use of drones and eXtended reality Updated material on developments in dating DNA analysis isotopes and population movement including consideration of the ethical considerations of these techniques Coverage of new developments in archaeological theory such as the material turn ontological turn and work on issues of equality diversity and inclusion A whole new chapter covering archaeology in the present including new sections on heritage and public archaeology and an updated consideration of archaeology s relationship with the climate crisis A revised glossary with over 200 new additions or updates   Enter the Past ,2004   Handbook of Archaeological Methods Herbert D. G. Maschner,Christopher Chippindale,2005 The Handbook of Archaeological Methods comprises 37 articles by leading archaeologists on the key methods used by archaeologists in the field in analysis in theory building and in managing cultural resources The book is destined to become the key reference work for archaeologists and their advanced students on contemporary archaeological methods   Creating Digital Resources for the Visual Arts Catherine Grout,2000

Creating Digital Performance Resources Mark Taylor-Batty,2001 This is a basic guide to good practice for using electronic information and resources in the performing arts with lots of pointers to specialised information   The Archaeological Journal ,2001   E-learning Archaeology H. van Londen,Marjolijn S. M. Kok,Arkadiusz Marciniak,2009 This book is a contribution to a growing body of e learning applications in archaeology and archaeological heritage Its main aim is to discuss various facets of the Leonardo da Vinci project E learning as a tool of knowledge transfer in the field of protection and management of archaeological heritage completed in the years 2007 2009 by six European partners in the context of other undertakings in distance learning solutions in archaeology over the last few years The project s explicit objective was to exchange the best practices and innovative solutions in the field of the archaeological heritage of northern Europe In particular its major purpose was to design develop test assess and implement web based training solutions in developing and upgrading vocational skills in this sector by preparing and conducting a multimedia e learning course composed of fifteen interrelated modules Furthermore the project developed and implemented new methodology including the transfer of knowledge from the conventional to the e learning format and the elaborated training methodology The book is composed of an introduction and eleven chapters Seven of them refer directly to various facets of the project such as its design methodology implementation and evaluation The remaining four contributions discuss current initiatives in implementing different distance and e learning solutions in archaeology The introductory chapter written by Mark Pluciennik debates extensively the benefits and failures of distance learning and e learning as well as pressures for convergence between them as well as between e learning and traditional learning For the author e learning is a complement mode of content delivery which in places proves to be the most efficient one However it is clear that not all learning can be done through digital presentation video or the manipulation of processed data This is especially so in the discipline such as archaeology where one has to learn a range of practical and embodied skills If we choose to implement e learning solutions however it is necessary to provide a serious structural resource and staff support being a prerequisite for supplying and maintaining high quality and up to date education The following seven papers cover various aspect of the project itself They discuss the training content as well as methodology of the course production and training In particular they refer to the models and methods of distance training and their applicability for the sector of archaeological heritage and tools used in the distance learning process use of multimedia learning management systems supporting conducting distance learning in particular the LMS LCMS system s functionality as well as details of the course s preparation and implementation and the training process An important part of the book is aimed at evaluating the course content and training process It is based upon careful and systematic questionnaires that were collected among trainees in all participating countries after the completion of the course This section contains also personal accounts of both trainers and trainees The last two papers present two ongoing e learning programme in archaeology implemented These comprise project Arkeonet conducted by the Aranzadi Science Society Spain and a Leonardo da Vinci project Archaeology and Construction Engineering Skills ACES   Quo Vadis Archaeologia? European Science Foundation. Exploratory Workshop,European Science Foundation,2001   GIS Guide to Good Practice Mark Gillings,Alicia Wise,1990 This guide provides advice on good practice in GIS   Scientific Analysis of Archaeological Ceramics Katherine Barclay,2001 The focus of attention in ceramic research is increasingly turning away from duplicative amassing and reporting of material and towards synthetic work This handbook sets out information which might be sought by ceramic analysis and gives broad outlines of the different methods of analysis   Creating and Using Virtual Reality Kate Fernie,J. D. Richards,2003 The essence of virtual reality lies with computer based three dimensional environments Often termed worlds these conceptual models can be navigated interacted with and updated in real time This Guide to Good Practice is intended for individuals and organisations who are interested in potential ways to use virtual reality within the arts and humanities It concentrates on the most widely used form of virtual reality today desk top virtual reality which may be distributed and viewed on line via the World Wide Web In these systems virtual reality worlds run on users desk top computers are displayed on a standard monitor and navigated using a mouse or 3 D space ball and keyboard This Guide introduces virtual reality by considering its history philosophy and theory and discusses good practice in planning virtual reality projects It presents the data management and documentation procedures required to enable models to be maintained and enjoyed by the audiences for which they are intended It also explores strategies for archiving and considers how to avoid the loss of virtual reality models as technology changes A virtual library of case studies illustrates some applications of virtual reality in Archaeology Architecture Dance Design Fine Art Heritage History Museum Studies and Theatre Examples of worlds which allow users to interact with each other are also presented   A Neolithic and Bronze Age Landscape in Northamptonshire Jan Harding,Frances Healy,2013-01-15 The Raunds Area Project investigated more than 20 Neolithic and Bronze Age monuments in the Nene Valley From c 5000 BC to the early 1st millennium cal BC a succession of ritual mounds and burial mounds were built as settlement along the valley sides increased and woodland was cleared Starting as a regular stopping place for flint knapping and domestic tasks first the Long Mound and then Long Barrow the north part of the Turf Mound and the Avenue were built in the 5th millennium BC With the addition of the Long Enclosure the Causewayed Ring Ditch and the Southern Enclosure there was a chain of five or six diverse monuments stretched along the river bank by c 3000 cal BC Later a timber platform the Riverside Structure was built and the focus of ceremonial activity shifted to the Cotton Henge two concentric ditches on the occupied valley side From c 2200 cal BC monument building accelerated and included the Segmented Ditch Circle and at least 20 round barrows almost all containing burials at first inhumations then cremations down to c 1000 cal BC by which time two overlapping systems of paddocks and droveways had been laid out Finally the terrace began to be settled when these had gone out of use in the early 1st millennium cal BC This second volume of the Raunds Area Project published as a CD comprises the detailed reports on the environmental archaeology artefact studies geophysics and chronology
